Acute Political Tension: Clash Feared on Sunday

AMATEUR STATUS OF VINES

Subject of Enquiry in United States

New York, Aug. 8.
Mr. Louis Carruthers, chairman of the amateur rules committee of the U.S.L.T.A. states that the amateur status of Ellsworth Vines is now under investigation as the result of widespread reports linking his name with professional offers.

It was recently reported that an offer of $100,000 was made to Vines to induce him to turn professional.—Reuter.

MONEYLENDER'S CLAIM

A SPECIAL JURY EMPANELLED

IMPORTANT CASE OPENS

A claim for over $25,000 against a former colleague for alleged malicious prosecution and false imprisonment was commenced by an Indian registered moneylender at the Supreme Court before the Chief Justice Mr. J. R. Wood, this morning.

The parties are Hazara Singh, a registered money lender, of 8, Morrison Hill Road, and Sawan, also a registered money lender, of 9, Morrison Hill Road.

Singh claims $20,000 special damages, $5,840 money owing to him which he was unable to collect owing to his arrest, $500 solicitors costs, $138 travelling expenses, and costs of the present proceedings.

PARTICULARS OF CLAIM.

The facts alleged in the particulars of claim of the plaintiff are that on November 12 last year he left the Colony for Shanghai and Amoy for the purpose of collecting sums of money due to him there on promissory notes.

On November 16 defendant falsely and maliciously laid information before Mr. G. S. Kennedy Skipton, police magistrate, and procured a warrant for plaintiff's arrest upon a charge that on November 4 and 10, 1932 he obtained from defendant by false pretences two sums of money, $1,360 and $3,800, with intent to defraud.

ARRESTED ON WARRANT.

Plaintiff was arrested on this warrant at Shanghai on December 3 and was imprisoned there until December 14 when he was brought to Hongkong. Three days later he was formally charged before Mr. Wynne Jones. He was remanded and again imprisoned until December 24 when he was released on bail.

The hearing of the case, continued the particulars, occupied January 10, 11, and 13, and defendant by false and malicious representations, procured plaintiff's commitment to the February Criminal Sessions.

FURTHER STATEMENT.

On January 24, through his solicitor, falsely and maliciously preferred before the magistrate a further charge against plaintiff of having, with intent to defraud his creditors, made a transfer of promissory notes to Garga Singh between October 10 and November 13.

This further charge was heard on January 30 and 31 and defendant, by false and malicious representations procured his commitment to the Sessions.

Plaintiff was released from bail on or about February 9 and from further custody, the Attorney General having signified his refusal to prosecute the plaintiff on either of the said charges.

BATON CHARGE ON CROWDS

LIVELY STREET SCENES LAST NIGHT

DE VALERA ANXIOUS

DUBLIN, AUGUST 9.
STONES, BOOING AND HISSING FROM A CROWD OF OVER FIVE THOUSAND GREETED THE APPEARANCE OF A BAND OF "BLUE-SHIRTS" IN THE STREETS OF DUBLIN THIS EVENING, GIVING A FORETASTE OF THE GROWING HOSTILITY BETWEEN RIVAL POLITICAL FACTIONS.

An ominous spirit is abroad and the crisis is expected to be reached on the big Republican anniversary on Sunday.

Mr. de Valera has prohibited the appearance of General O'Duffy's new National Guard, which appears to be a Fascist organisation, distinguished by the wearing of blue shirts. General O'Duffy expresses determination to carry on and threatens to challenge Mr. de Valera's right of veto in the courts.

PENNY A MILE ON RAILWAYS

BACK TO PRE-WAR LEVEL

London, Aug. 8.
The main line British railway companies announce the continuance until the end of 1933 of the special summer passenger fare rates.

Return fares will thus be at the pre-war rate of one penny per mile.—British Wireless.

his reputation and suffered pain of body and mind. He had been prevented from attending to his business and had incurred expense to no purpose in going to Amoy and Shanghai. He therefore claimed special damages as set out above.

DEFENCE DENIAL.

The particulars of the defence deny that plaintiff went to Amoy and Shanghai for the purpose stated; deny that defendant falsely and maliciously laid the information which procured the warrant of arrest; deny that he or his solicitor falsely and maliciously preferred the further charge and deny that he procured plaintiff's commitment for trial; and deny that the prosecution referred to was terminated by reason of the refusal of the Attorney General to prosecute plaintiff.

Mr. Duncanson McNeill, instructed by Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios, is appearing for plaintiff; Mr. F. C. Jenkin, instructed by Messrs. Lo and Lo represents defendant.

SPECIAL JURY.

A special jury has been convened consisting of Messrs. L. J. Blackburn, foreman, W. C. Ogley, V. Benjamin, A. M. Parker, S. A. Lopez, D. L. Prophet, and W. T. Lee.

After outlining the facts of the case, Mr. MacNeill remarked that such actions were rare as few people were wicked or rash enough to take the risk defendant had taken. The consequences were sometimes very serious indeed. There were cases in which a person's reputation could be injured by a paragraph in a newspaper or periodical but there was a very strong difference in such cases and the present. A paragraph was not easily remembered but in an action such as the one they were dealing with, someone would say for years and years afterwards, "Was he not summoned some time ago? People would not lay such serious charges against him without some foundation."

IRAQ REBEL CARNAGE

SERIOUS BATTLE ON FRONTIER

MANY KILLED AND WOUNDED

Bagdad, Aug. 8.

Serious fighting occurred to-day between Iraqi frontier guards and Assyrian tribesmen near the border.

A heavy toll of life was taken in a sanguinary encounter, heavy losses being inflicted on the Assyrians by the better-armed Iraqi troops.

Twenty Iraqi guards were killed and forty-five wounded in the course of the encounter, while the Assyrian losses were more than four times as heavy. Ninety-five of their number were killed outright, many of them mown down by machine-guns, while hundreds more were wounded.

The fighting is attributed to the dissatisfaction of the Assyrians with the new regime in Iraq.—Reuter.

MURDER AT DEEP WATER BAY

TRAGEDY ON FISHING CRAFT

A fishing boat lying off Deep Water Bay was the scene of a murder early this morning.

Details are not available at the moment, as although the crime is said to have been committed at 12.30 a.m., a report was not received by the Aberdeen Police until the morning had been well advanced.

However, it is known that a Hkoko fisherman was the victim, the weapon used being a knife or chopper.

AUSTRO-GERMAN TENSION

EASIER ATMOSPHERE DEVELOPS

HITLER ASSURANCES

LONDON, AUG. 8.
THERE IS NOW EVERY HOPE THAT THE AUSTRO-GERMAN TENSION WILL SHORTLY BE LIQUIDATED.

It is learned that the German Government has assured Italy that efforts will be made to prevent a recurrence of the incidents which have given rise to protests.

In spite of the nature of the German Reply to the Franco-British demarche, the British view is that the reply does not affect the assurances given to Italy.

The Austrian Charge D'Affaires in London, Herr Wimmer, called at the Foreign Office this afternoon and was informed that His Majesty's Government had been acquainted by the Italian Government on Sunday, August 6th, that the German Government had given assurances to the Italian Government that they would do their best to prevent the incursion of aeroplanes from Germany over Austrian Territory and to check propaganda against the Austrian Government from German broadcast stations by tightening censorship.

NAZI NIGHT RAID

BROADCASTERS ARRESTED

Berlin, Aug. 8.
Herr Alfred Baum, the German ex-broadcast announcer, and four other ex-broadcast chiefs, have been arrested and removed to the Oranienburg concentration camp.

The men were arrested in their beds during the night by police and Nazis.

The arrest is stated to be due to revelations of the "excessive salaries" they had been drawing under the Marxist system.—Reuter.

HOTEL WRECKED BY WOMAN.

SIX DEAD AND OVER 50 INJURED.

Prague, Aug. 1.

The suicide of a Czech woman by the explosion of a bomb was apparently the cause of the extraordinary disaster at Bruenn, the capital of Moravia, when the four-storey Hotel de l'Europe was wrecked. Three guests are known to be dead and 37 injured.

LOAN TO AUSTRIA

British Prospectus Issued

The prospectus for the Austrian Government International guaranteed loan 1933/34 has now been published. The issue amounting to £4,514,200, is in three per cent. guaranteed sterling bonds, the price of issue being 96 per cent. guaranteed as to principal and interest by His Majesty's Government under the provisions of the Austrian loan guarantee act 1933.

Interest will be payable half yearly on January 1 and July 1. The first coupon will be for £1.1 per cent. and will be payable on January 1, 1934.

The list of applications will be opened and closed on Thursday.—British Wireless.

CANADIAN LOAN AT PREMIUM

London, Aug. 8.
Dealings in Canadian 4 per cent. loan opened at a premium of 1 1/4 per cent. on the London Stock Exchange and at the close, the stock stood at 113/10 per cent. premium.

As already reported, the loan was heavily oversubscribed and allotments were curtailed, but it is understood that preference will be given to the small investors.

AIR ARMADA IN AZORES

FIRST LEG OF OCEAN FLIGHT

WITHOUT MISHAP

London, Aug. 8.

General Balbo's air armada has completed the first leg of the second ocean crossing in its triumphant homeward journey and may be expected in Rome on Thursday.

For the time being, the armada has split into two groups.

All twenty-four machines have landed safely in the Azores from Ponta Delgada, Newfoundland, but nine of them have landed at Horta, while the remainder proceeded to Ponta Delgada.

The first batch landed at Horta at 7.25 p.m. British Summer Time. The other fifteen planes sailed gracefully down into the waters of Ponta Delgada, on San Miguel Island, some thirty-five minutes later.

EVENTLESS TRIP.

General Balbo was on board one of the machines which made the longer journey.

The crossing from Newfoundland was completed without untoward event. To-morrow, the airmen will take off for their next hop, heading for the Portuguese coast.—Reuter.

NATIONAL DEBT CHARGES

GREAT SAVING THIS YEAR

London, Aug. 8.

The total revenue for the current financial year up to last Saturday, including self-balancing revenue, amounted to £221,515,729.

For the corresponding period of last year the total was £214,179,734.

Ordinary and self-balancing expenditure for the same period was £273,540,333 against £305,922,644 last year.

Expenditure during the current year on the management of the National Debt has been £96,647,229 as compared with £128,207,262 for the corresponding period of last year.—British Wireless.

RASPUTIN AND THE EMPRESS

Adapted by BIANCO L. JONES from the M.G.M. Picture.

In yesterday's instalment the little Tsarvitch had fallen at play. Prince Paul, looking at the Tsarina, had been appalled at the horror in her face.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER SIX

A hysterical note rang in the Tsarina's voice:

"Quickly, Paul, quickly! Get Dr. Remezov—Dr. Remezov!"

"But Your Highness—it was only a tumble. He's bleeding from a scratch. I'll take him into the nursery and bind it up. It's not worth calling the doctor."

"You don't know. Get the Doctor! Tell him that the bleeding has started. Quickly now!"

Without further objections, Paul ran from the garden, and down the long corridor of the Imperial Palace which led to the Guard Room. Here he telephoned to the doctor, a well-known physician of the capital, who had, Paul remembered, officiated at the birth of the Tsarvitch.

The telephone call was completed. Prince Paul spoke to a nurse in Remezov's office. The doctor was out-visiting General Kuznetzkoff, who suffered from gout. If it was an urgent matter, Prince Paul could reach him there.

Kuznetzkoff's house was on the Nevsky Prospect. Paul knew the house. He had often been there to tea when he had been a cadet. He decided to go and fetch the doctor himself.

He ran down the broad steps to the street, called for his car. When it drew up, he flung himself in without waiting for the footmen to open the door, slammed the door behind him and then ordered the driver to drive like mad to Kuznetzkoff's house.

He found Dr. Remezov, a short neatly-bearded gentleman, with pince-nez and habitually worried expression, just on the point of leaving. Paul told him of the circumstances which had brought him.

As soon as Remezov heard that the Tsarvitch was bleeding, his usually worried expression changed to one of deep concern. Without saying a word, he crossed to the telephone that stood in Kuznetzkoff's hallways and put in a call for Vienna, please. Dr. Remezov speaking, Paul heard him say.

Still more puzzled at the Doctor's concern than he had been at the Empress's frantic demand for the doctor, Paul questioned him.

"But, doctor, it was only a slight fall."

"It's a good deal more serious than that," Remezov said slowly. He spoke swiftly into the mouthpiece of the telephone.

"Vienna, yes. I want to talk to Doctor Franz Wolf there."

Still holding the phone, he turned his head again to Paul.

"Did you ever hear of haemophilia?" he asked gravely.

Paul awayed slightly in spite of himself.

"The Empress's uncle died of it." His mouth was set in a straight line. Haemophilia! It was inherent on the Tsarina's side, like the sword poised over the head of Damocles, with its inevitable doom.

Remezov's answer was not encouraging.

"Her grandfather died of it also," he said, shaking his head.

But, Alexei!

"It's impossible," Paul exclaimed desperately. "Why, the boy's a young animal, full of life!"

"To look at," Remezov answered. "But there's an element lacking in the blood. The slightest injury may cause him to bleed to death."

"Can nothing be done?" Paul asked despairingly.

Remezov shrugged his shoulders. "Wolf knows more than the rest of us about haemophilia," he said.

"Still, that's very little. I only hope he knows how to stop the pain."

"God!" Paul exclaimed, his memory flashing back to Alexei at play, Alexei with his loving parents, Alexei facing the crowd with a radiant smile.

For two whole weeks, officers, merchants, peasants kept eager vigil at a bulletin board which was fastened to the gate outside the palace. And always the report from the Physicians in Ordinary read ominously:

"The condition of His Imperial Highness continues to be grave."

Now, as hundreds braved a driving rain, questioning those fortunate enough to be able to read the most recent report on the condition of the beloved Tsarvitch, there was a sudden stir in the crowd.

A military messenger swore at the crowd as he fought his way to the gate, the mob eyeing him curiously, praying that his haste might mean hope.

The message was handed swiftly from guard to guard. It was Natasha who received it from the excited court chamberlain. The girl ran hurriedly, yet silently, to the inner chamber of the little Tsarvitch's apartment, where the Empress, her features haggard from lack of sleep, was kneeling before a pedestal.

"Yes?" she said in a low, vibrant voice.

For answer, Natasha bowed and pressed the telegram into her hand. The Tsarina seized it eagerly. She tore it open.

"From Paul!" she cried out. "Thank God! Paul has found Doctor Wolf!"

Natasha uttered a cry of relief. Excitedly she asked:

"Where are they Madame?"

The Tsarina's face was alight

with hope as she answered:

"At the frontier. He'll be here to-morrow."

Softly, she entered the darkened sickroom.

As she came in a nurse whispered:

"No change, Madame."

The Tsar, sitting by the sick bed looked up. Silently the Tsarina gave him the telegram. She was momentarily exultant. He read it quickly. Without rising he rested his head against her, clinging to her gently. She roused him with a whisper:

"He's the greatest doctor in the world. Look! The track must be cleared for that train! Tell them!"

The Tsar rose, nodding excitedly, and tip-toed out of the room.

The Tsarvitch looked up, his face pale on the wide pillow.

"Mamma..." he murmured.

She smiled, an anguished smile and slowly, as if she hardly dared touch him, she put her hand on his forehead.

"Mamma, will you say my prayers? I can't remember them," he asked.

Unseen by the boy, the Tsarina clutched the nurse's hand. The pressure was such that the nurse winced. But the Empress' face remained calm, even serene, as she spoke to her son. She began the prayer:

"Gentle Jesus, meek and mild... Look upon a little child..."

"Is that the one?" she asked softly. "Pity my simplicity..."

Now she was really unable to continue.

"There's some more..." the Tsarvitch said weakly.

"Suffer me to come to Thee..." The Tsarvitch stirred uneasily.

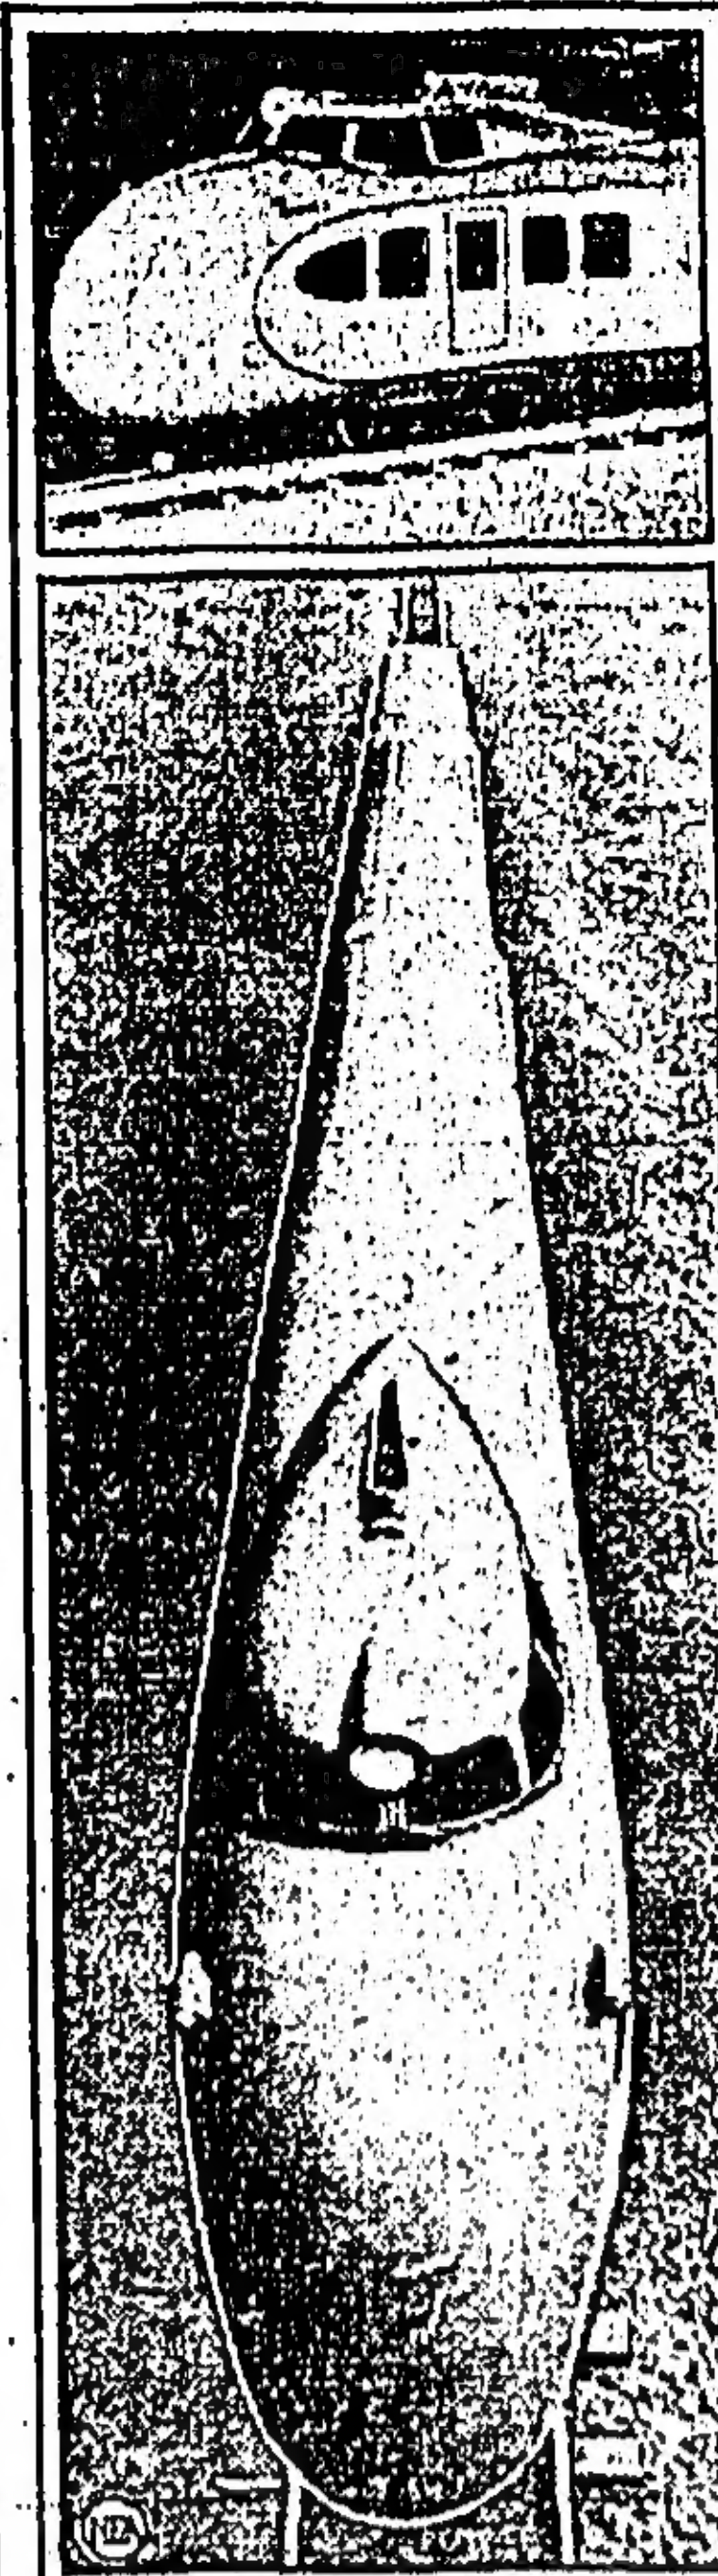

"And ask Him not to make it hurt... anymore."

In spite of herself, a terrible low cry—escaped the Empress. The nurse made a warning gesture, but it was too late. She could not control herself.

Natasha appeared in the doorway, alarmed. Behind her came Remezov. He pushed Natasha aside and strode into the room. The Tsarina's stifled sobs came over them all.

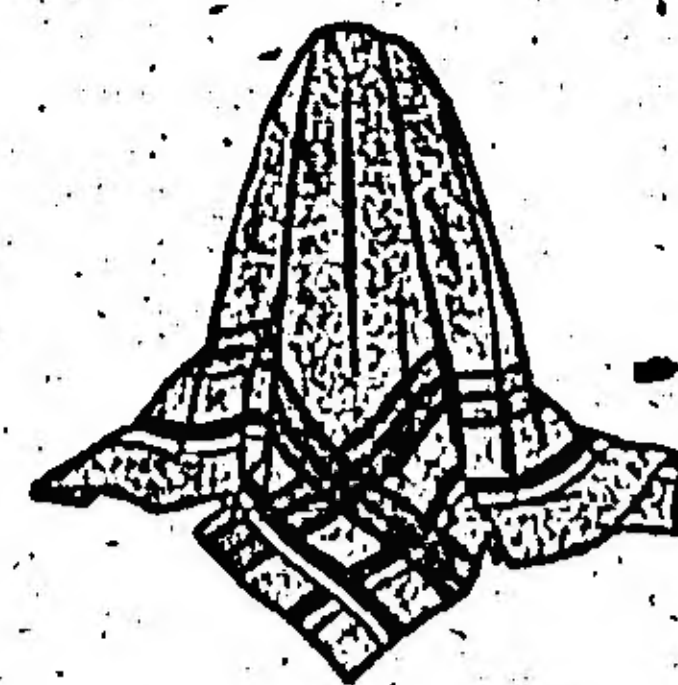

"Don't, Mamma," the Tsarvitch murmured sympathetically, through his pain.

CUBAN CRISIS

PROSPECT OF U. S. INTERVENTION

New York, Aug. 8. Despite official denials, President Machado is expected to resign and leave Cuba. In the meantime, President Roosevelt is stated to be opposed to American intervention. In spite of this, the New York Times reports that the situation will force America to intervene. The same journal states that the U.S. Army and Navy perfected plans for this purpose six months ago.

The casualties resulting from firing on the crowd which was celebrating the false radio report that the President had resigned are variously reported to be between 20 and 90 killed and 200 wounded. Hundreds were arrested.

The frenzied crowds had gathered before the presidential palace when suddenly, soldiers and police, stationed on top of the palace, and at other strategic points, turned machine guns on them.

The wounded are seeking refuge in the crowded American Embassy which has been converted into a hospital.—Reuter.

At least eighteen people are reported to have been killed in train crash near Bologny in Russia when two trains traveling at top speed, collided. The disaster was said to be due to a mistake of the pointman, who switched on the wrong rail. He was at once arrested and is likely to be condemned to death.

from her face. She forced a pathetic smile and with a heroic effort brought her voice into key. "Nothing, darling. Mamma is laughing," she said.

The Doctor with gentle strength and an air of immense deference raised her to her feet. "That's right, Your Highness," he said to the boy. "Your mother is happy that you are doing so well."

He drew her gently to the door. Natasha followed, respectfully. He murmured to her:

"Madame, for the boy's sake. For your own sake!"

"Forgive me, Doctor!"

The Doctor escorted her through the door and turned her over to Natasha with a smile.

"She must sleep."

Natasha nodded and took the Empress on through toward a couch against the wall. Suddenly the Empress turned, spoke tensely to the Doctor:

"Remove! the doctor from Vienna gets here to-morrow."

"Splendid!"

"Tell me the truth!" the Tsaritsa said, coming closer. "Can he save my boy?"

She searched his face desperately. "Your Imperial Highness, if anyone can—"

"If—[I]" the Tsaritsa exclaimed. The doctor waited for her to dismiss him. Instead she turned her back and with great dignity moved toward the couch. The doctor made a gesture to Natasha as if to say: "Take care of her." Then he returned to the sickroom, gently closing the door. Natasha followed the Empress, who seated herself wearily.

"Madame . . ." Natasha began respectfully.

It was obvious that she wished to tell the Tsaritsa something of the greatest importance. She seemed diffident, half terrified.

The Tsaritsa averted her head with a despairing gesture. Natasha stood for a brief instant, trembling. Suddenly she made up her mind and crossed silently to the door leading into the palace corridor. Wearily the Tsaritsa's gaze followed her. She saw something. A startled incredulous look crossed her face. Slowly her eyes widened. A human shadow lengthened on the floor. The head of the

All of these records were established on the All Wai Canal in Honolulu, which furnishes for the competitors water as smooth as glass; there are no currents, and high banks on either side that ensure little or no interference by wind. The canal has a straightaway of more than a mile in length and is 145 feet wide, lending plenty of room for all sorts of competition. With its outlet to the sea filling it with salt water, it is indeed the ideal spot for this sport.

The nearest thing to the perfection of Honolulu's All Wai Canal for surfboard racing that I have seen is our own Repulse Bay. The continually smooth waters offer conditions ideal for surfboard racing, or paddling for fun and exercise. The almost regular monthly typhoon scares we get bring waves sufficient in size to add a pleasant south of variety for everybody. For those that demand waves and surf on definite dates I recommend Big Wave Bay.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONS.
The six National events, record times and world championship holders to-day are:

Event	Time	Holder
Men's Half Mile	4 min. 49 sec.	Tom Blake (American)
Men's 100 yd. dash	31 1/5 sec's.	Tom Klakena (Honolulu)
Men's 440 yd. relay	2 min. 9 1/5 sec's.	Outrigger Canoe Club Team. (Honolulu)
Ladies' Quarter Mile	7 min. 1 sec.	Mildred Slaght (Honolulu)
Ladies' 100 yd. Dash	33 2/5 sec's.	Beatrice Newport (Honolulu)
Ladies' 140 relay	2 min. 21 2/5 sec's.	Outrigger Canoe Club Team. (Honolulu)

Another excellent example of a surf-rider taking a big wave. This was a typical scene at Repulse Bay on Monday when with a typhoon in the vicinity the waves were admirable for surf-riding.

BOWLS CHAMPIONSHIP SURPRISE

U. M. OMAR BEATEN BY J. CAVANAGH

J. Cavanagh created a big surprise by eliminating U. M. Omar, an ex-champion, from the Lawn Bowls Singles Championship on the Police green yesterday, by a score of 21 shots to 15.

The other tie between J. F. McGowan and N. Drummond on the Craigengower green ended in an easy win for the former player by 21 shots to 9.

Conditions were none too favourable for the matches, as both greens were on the heavy side, and a tricky wind did not very much help the players.

In the match between Omar and Cavanagh this was very apparent, and many a time Omar was unlucky to lose a shot owing to the tricky green. This, however, did not detract one jot from the merit of Cavanagh's win, which was well deserved, and gained by consistently good bowling.

Comparing the scores of the players, Cavanagh scored on 13 heads to Omar's eight, while Omar scored three 3's to his opponent's two.

Cavanagh ran away with an early lead of 3-1, but was soon overhauled, through Omar laying a three. After this the struggle proved very close and interesting, and on all was called before Cavanagh again took the lead at the half-way stage by laying two. Twelve-all was called, and then 15-all, with Cavanagh each time taking the lead, only to be caught up.

Both players kept trailing the 'Jack' frequently, and Cavanagh in particular was laying them very well. When he led 17-15, it was thought that Omar would overhaul him, especially as three of his shots were lying close to the 'jack,' although Cavanagh lay one. It was only for Omar to clear Cavanagh's shot, to lay four, but in endeavouring to do so, he struck the 'jack' rather too hard, and gave Cavanagh a three, to raise the score to 20-15.

On the last head Omar made a spirited attempt to lay one, after Cavanagh had laid three shots near the 'jack,' but he just failed to do so, and Cavanagh ran out the winner.

MCGOWAN v. DRUMMOND.
Drummond ran out into an early lead of 6 before McGowan began laying his woods all round the 'jack,' and thereafter there was only one man in the picture.

Drummond altogether won on six heads only, having taken the first three heads, and McGowan won on 13.

The match finished on the 19th head with a score of 21-9 in favour of McGowan.

J. S. Logan passed through another round of the Open Lawn Bowls Championship yesterday, when he defeated J. Watson by 21-15 at the K.C.C.

The match between S. Eccleshall and A. S. Gomes at the K.B.C. was not played owing to bad conditions, and it has been arranged to take place to-day.

DISPUTED TRANSFERS
IN FOOTBALLArsenal and Chelsea
Involved

There may be inquiries regarding the transfers of both McMillen and Priestley by both the English and the Irish Leagues, as neither is satisfied about the delay in sending along this transfer form.

The English League cannot understand the delay in lodging the form by Arsenal, and the Irish League are not at all clear as to why Cliftonville only signed the transfer form on March 29, when they knew the player McMillen had signed the form on January 25.

Certainly there are many matters in connexion with this business requiring explanation.

F.M.S. WIN EASILY.

Singapore, Aug. 8.
The annual cricket fixture between the Singapore Colony team and the Federated Malay States was played at Penang during the August holidays and resulted in a decisive victory for the F.M.S. eleven, by seven wickets.

Taking the first knock, the Colony compiled 225, towards which total Hoblyn contributed a useful 71 and Leijastus 41.

The F.M.S. eleven replied with 303, thanks to a brilliant innings of 218 by Reed, who, strangely enough, was only a reserve.

In their second attempt, the Colony batsmen totalled 238, Carr scoring 67, Carpenter 57, and Noon 50.

Lall Singh captured seven wickets for 52 runs.

The F.M.S. made the required number of runs for victory with the loss of only two wickets.—Our Own Correspondent.

LIM BONG SOO WINS.

Singapore, Aug. 8.
Kuala Lumpur was the venue of the Malayan Tennis Championships, played over the week-end and Monday.

Lim Bong Soo, singles champion for the past two years, retained his title for the third year in succession.

Another feature of the tennis meeting was the brilliant victory of Miss Oldfield over Mrs. Corbett in the ladies' singles final. This match was watched with the keenest interest, as Mrs. Corbett beat Miss Oldfield at Singapore in the annual encounter between the Colony and Selangor last Easter.—Our Own Correspondent.

Singapore Defeated
In Badminton.

Singapore, Aug. 8.
In the badminton contest between Selangor and Singapore, concluded yesterday, the Colony won three out of five singles matches but lost four out of five of the doubles fixtures, Selangor thus emerging victorious by a score of six matches to four.

The competition took place in the Drill Hall and attracted a large number of spectators.—Our Own Correspondent.

Priestley from Linfield, the English body are likely to inquire why it was necessary for Priestley to sign as a professional for Linfield when he was quite free to sign for Chelsea.

These two cases may end sensationally. In the meantime Mr. Tom Muirhead, who manages the Scottish League club St. Johnstone, is making a big effort to sign McMillin, who is quite free to sign, as the transfer signed on behalf of Arsenal is now regarded as null and void.

"LEAGUE OF BRITISH WHITES"

Not while local Britons still retain the gift of laughter is Major Cassel likely to make headway in the organisation of his so-called League of British Whites. Mumbo-jumbo and the secret society atmosphere may meet with some response in large boys who will never grow up and there is much in the astonishing outline of Major Cassel's aims and objectives which might commend itself to the immature. But we trust and believe that Hongkong is definitely the wrong place in which to attempt to implant the narrow aggressive type of Nationalism which the promoter of the organisation preaches. For this reason, the project scarcely warrants the compliment of serious treatment. There are, however, features of the programme warranting brief examination in view of certain statements made in the course of the published interview.

"We believe that the Royal Family should be held in such respect that the prestige of the monarchy is maintained. We are unwavering supporters of the monarchy since it is the one element in the present system of government that realises the Fascist ideal of 'Government above party, class or section.' We should consider ourselves justified in using force against any unpatriotic movement. The reason for the existence of our organisation is to uphold the monarchy against all subversive movements and to bring about a reform in our system of government. We hold that the present system of government needs reforming because it is failing to maintain the greatness and the happiness of the British people. Our attitude towards the non-British sections of the Empire's population is that the interests of the British nation come first and the other Empire peoples should have rights proportionate to their loyalty and usefulness to the British nation."

This reads amazingly like a resume of the gallant Major's announcements, but is nothing of the kind. It consists of an extract from the officially authorised statement of policy of the British Fascists. Yet Major Cassel declares that the League of British Whites is "most certainly not" to be run on Fascist or Nazi lines. Again, we may ask, what is this paltry glorification of the "White Briton" but a translation of Herr Hitler's cult of the super-humanity of the Nordic Race? Everyone will sympathise with properly conducted efforts to find jobs for unemployed Britons and few would uphold Hongkong's governmental system as ideal. But Fascism merely means the substitution of a benevolent type of autocracy by something far more alarming. If Fascism, and

NOTES OF THE DAY

The world hopes for a reduction of tariffs are rapidly disappearing. The key position is that of the United States, and there the economic omens do not look too favourable. President Roosevelt, armed with exceptional powers, is embarking upon great projects of economic re-organization. There are to be many more controls than before over the freedom of industrial enterprises. These may be good or bad, but all history suggests that their effect will be to raise the costs of American industrial production. And that will make strongly for raising the tariff further, or at all events against lowering it.

AMERICA'S KEY POSITION

Now just as the world slump began with the American slump, so it is probably true that the restoration of the United States to economic health must condition the restoration of the world. But how can the United States become healthy again, until her regular exports—her cotton and tobacco and cereals and canned goods, not to mention her motor-cars and oil-stoves and cash-registers—can once more be exported freely at good prices? And how can they ever be, until foreign nations can pay freely for them in goods? And how can payment in goods be made unless the American tariff comes down?

ENTANGLEMENTS

That is, with the Debt question, the crux of the economic situation. One may assume that it is not hidden from Mr. Roosevelt. But there is daily evidence that it is ignored by masses of his fellow-countrymen, and we must do nothing that would prevent him from carrying them with him. Unfortunately, as we have just indicated, there is much danger of his preventing himself. The whole problem is so tangled, wheels within wheels, that it is difficult for him to gratify popular demand at one point without finding that he has blocked progress at others.

MARTIANS ANNIHILATED?

From the report of the astronomers working in the Mount Wilson Observatory, regarding the small percentage of oxygen contained in the atmosphere of Mars, the conclusion has been drawn that life cannot exist on this nearest of planetary bodies. Thus by a single stroke are we earthbound mortals deprived of a sense of intimacy that has grown up between us and our Martian neighbours. Martians henceforth will cease to exist, even in the imagination. No longer can we draw our conclusions regarding the frivolities of mankind by comparison with visitors from Mars. All because the astronomers say there is too little oxygen there to support life. But this conclusion is based upon the theory that existence is limited to creatures having a similar physical structure to that of inhabitants of the earth, and, consequently, they must be similarly sustained by a proper oxygen content of the atmosphere. Is this a fair conclusion? May not other forms of life exist, even as far advanced in the scale of existence as we believe humans to be, forms that would thrive upon even 1 per cent of oxygen, or upon none at all? Such a conclusion denies the possibility that life may find expression except under the highly restricted conditions which surround earth denizens.

BEROLINA

In the "Berolina" statue of the Alexanderplatz, Berlin has a sculptural work of art no less errant than has been the equally famous "Eros" of Piccadilly Circus in London. Eros, after long absence, is back in his place. Berolina is still in her boudoir in a Berlin suburb making preparations to resume once more her fashionable ways. It is six years since a huge lorry, ten metres in length, eloped with her in the dead of night from the Alexanderplatz. A similarly ponderous chariot has been chartered for her nocturnal return, for Berolina is no ordinary dame. She is many times life-size and of such magnificent build that only when traffic is at its lowest can enough space be found in the streets for her procession to pass. Eros is an old beside Berolina. But his absence from his post was from a similar cause. The reason

HOUSE OF DETENTION IS NOTHING BUT A GAOL

STARTLING DISCLOSURES OF HONGKONG "POOR HOUSE"

In this startling expose of conditions and treatment in the Hongkong House of Detention, an inmate describes his experiences of a week-end spent in the Institution.

(Contributed)

MANY is the time you have read in your morning paper that another Briton has reached the end of his resources, and has been committed to the House of Detention.

How many of Hongkong British residents give this a second thought? Not one in a hundred, I warrant.

In the following article I will endeavour to explain to you in simple language what actually happens to a man after he has given himself up. First of all he is questioned by the Police authorities with regard to his length of residence in the Colony, the positions he has held, and the reasons for losing same.

These questions answered to the satisfaction of the Police he is searched, and the following articles of wearing apparel are taken from him and locked up; braces, belt, shoes, laces, necktie, studs and cuff-links. I presume this precaution is taken to guard against the possibility of committing suicide. As it is mostly late in the day when men give themselves up, they invariably spend one night in the "side room." This is a room set aside for this purpose at Police Headquarters.

BED FULL OF BUGS.

The room is furnished with two beds, a table and chair. On the occasion of which I am writing there were three occupants of this room; however, this made very little difference as regards who would sleep on the two beds, the mattresses being full of bugs. We all decided to sleep on the floor.

Smoking is prohibited but a friendly officer of the law gave me one cigarette, and I smoked them. The following morning I was taken before the Magistrate and charged as a vagrant, and committed to the House of Detention.

The Magistrate inquired of the prosecuting officer if there was any chance of me being sent Home. The reply was "Yes, later on." But I was told by the same police officer that the Government were not prepared to spend any money on passages for detainees; this being confirmed by the fact that only two weeks since one Australian and one Canadian were put aboard a certain steamer to work as "mess boys" on the trip home, this after the two gentlemen concerned had spent from three to four months in the "House."

SAME CLOTHING AS PRISONERS.

After being committed, I was taken to the "Reception Room" of Victoria Gaol, again questioned and searched, the same articles of wearing apparel taken from me, and handed a suit of khaki clothing and a shirt all several sizes too small for me. Into these I had to change, and my own clothing I handed to the warder to be locked up.

I will explain here that the clothing worn by the detainees is the same as that worn by prisoners, with the exception that there is no "broad arrow" stamped on them. Having changed into this clothing I am conducted to what is known as "D" Hall. In this Hall are housed European prisoners, destitutes and debtors.

Why a man who is down and on his luck should be housed with the regular prisoners is quite beyond all comprehension. Having arrived in "D" Hall I am conducted to a cell and told to enter, which I do, and the door is locked. The cell is exactly the same as that of a criminal, being seven feet long by five feet wide, and extremely hot and stuffy.

FURNITURE AND EFFECTS.

The furniture consists of one steel bed with mattress and cover, one pillow and sheet, all marked with "broad arrows", and the word "Prisoner" stamped on them in bold black letters. Other articles in the cell are one tin mug for drinking purposes, one bowl for washing, and another tin receptacle with cover used as a commode. This is emptied once every 24 hours.

Readers, you cannot imagine what it is like in this hot and sultry weather, to sleep in the confines of a 7 by 5 feet, with night soil close by your bed, the only ventilation being a steel grating too high up in the wall to be of much benefit to the inmate.

It is now 11.30 in the forenoon. A prisoner accompanied by the European warder arrives. I am handed a steaming hot mug of cocoa and half a pound of bread and told "There is something to be going on with." At 3 o'clock in the afternoon cells are unlocked. All detainees who have not obtained permission to go out to town for the allotted hours, namely 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., are allowed half an hour for smoking; not in the cell. They are lined up and marched over to the reception room, one end of which is fenced off with steel bars, and it is in this "cage" where the destitute must sit and smoke if he is fortunate enough, to have anything to smoke.

SUNDAY'S "MENU."

The allotted half an hour is up, you are searched, and new arrivals warned that if they are caught trying to smuggle any cigarettes etc., into their cell their leave will be stopped, and a second attempt will mean a period on "bread and water."

Arriving back in the cell the last meal of the day is served. This consists of a mug of cocoa and a half a pound of bread. On Sunday days cheese is added to the "menu." Five o'clock is locking up time when all cells are doubly locked for the night, not to be opened again on any pretext until 6 a.m. the following morning. All lights are extinguished at 8 o'clock.

The following day, being Saturday, the destitutes are locked in their cells for the greater part of the day. The same applies to Sunday and holidays; no permission is granted for leave on these days, as I found out to my regret later.

Breakfast over (this meal was exactly the same as the two previous

The Very Idea!

RUNNING OUR HEAD INTO A NEWS

By Ed. Kelly, Sob. Sister

And pity that poor reporter, As on the floor he lay, For the last he heard, Were the Great man's words, "I have nothing at all to say."

WITH apologies to O. Henry, or Kipling, or whoever it was wrote it.

All of which prompts the question "Do newspaper reporters eat their young?"

And if not, should they be told the facts of life?

Yesterday afternoon, after that interview with the I.G.P., we decided to set the Editor's mind at rest by interviewing all the other great men of Hongkong on the subject.

Our first victim was none other than the celebrated Mr. Edward Kelly, well-known journalist and man about town.

"Should reporters be told the facts of life?" he mused in answer to our question, "Yes, I think so! Frankness will never hurt anyone, and they should be warned of the lurking dangers of the Far East. How many reporters, unsophisticated and just out from Home, have ruined their whole career simply through ignorance. They should not be allowed to go and interview senior Government officials without a hint of the danger that lies before them."

We bowed to Mr. Kelly and left to collect other opinions. Here are a few of them:

Mr. Woolf-Wool: "Decidedly not! It is a dangerous precedent to tell newspaper reporters too much. Why, I have known them to actually publish things I have told them before today. Police don't ask me any further questions now. I am too PC."

Dr. A. R. W. M. M. M., Director of the Medical Services: "Many newspaper reporters have been ruined for life by being told too much. When I know that my patient is connected with a newspaper, I tell him nothing. Old fashioned remedies are the best. Where newspaper reporters are concerned I am a clinician."

The Hon. Dr. K. K. K.: Every newspaper reporter should be fully aware of the risks he has to take. The shameful secrets, half-hints and veiled allusions of the Victorian era should be ruthlessly swept away. Let us be frank and fearless. You can news this statement as you think fit.

Mr. H. T. ("Hot Time") B. B. B.: Superintendent of the Fire Brigade: "Newspapermen should not play with fire, otherwise they will be burnt."

The President of the Ladies Section of the Hongkong Golf Club: "All Bunkers! Of course, they should be told. Let us treat them the fair way. They've got to earn their bread and butter, and they're only doing their duty."

Mr. L. S. Green: M. Secretary of the Hongkong Cricket Club: "Is that cricket? The least the newspaper reporters know about body line the better. When I was a young man"

Mrs. Edward Kelly: "Hrrrrumph! If you'd stay at home and mind the baby, you shifless, worthless, good-for-nothing, loafing fool, you'd do more good for yourself."

THAT HONGKONG BEER

We are grievously disappointed. We got all hot and bothered this morning, looking forward to the official opening of the Hongkong Brewery this afternoon, when we suddenly discovered that it isn't until next Wednesday.

We felt so sick with disappointment that we had to drink a glass of water.

ANOTHER DICTATORSHIP

Are you falling to get your fair share of other people's money? Have you enemies that you can't get even with? Do you blow the froth off your beer before you drink it?

Then join the Kelly Night Shirts, with which are amalgamated the Steel Helmites and Storm Troupers.

Face the Factsists! This means YOU!

The Night Shirts stand for the immediate abolition of Shroffs and Small Debt courts, also twelve o'clock closing of Cabarets and the socialisation of beer.

Complete control of the Colony will be taken over by Major Cassel and Edward Kelly, assisted by Commissioners chosen from Night Shirts. Commissioners will be allowed to tack a K on to their night shirts.

Join up at once. Remember

U.S. GANGSTER SCANDAL

PROMINENT CHICAGO MEN TO BE TRIED.

Chicago, Aug. 2.

The retrial and a further term of imprisonment for the notorious gangster, Al Capone, who is now in gaol at Atlanta for income tax evasion, may be a sequel to a sensational gangster clean-up.

The latest endeavour to purge the city of racketeering follows a Grand Jury indictment. Many persons prominent in Chicago business and social circles suspected of extortions and intimidation are likely to be tried.

The latest arrests include the well-known lawyer, Shapiro, and others figuring in the indictment are Alderman Nelson, now on holiday in Europe, and Dr. Squires, a university lecturer at present at Pennsylvania. The last named is acting as conciliator in the hosiery strike and is astonished at the indictment.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Business done 1,230,000 shares.—The Wall Street Journal reports:

on yesterday's market: Stock prices closed more than three points up due to rumours that additional inflation is likely. Trading was quiet with automobile and rail stocks the strongest. The grain market opened weak owing to a decline in cotton. Wheat, however, led closing rally and closed steady.

Our New York Office cable: Stocks: There was greater activity on the upside to-day which indicates a likelihood of continued advance during the next day or so. Wheat: The market continues to drift and there is a lack of new buying. There were some rains in Canada but too late. An early revival in interest is expected and higher prices should follow.

Cotton: Due to a good technical position there was very little liquidation after unexpectedly large crop figures. There was substantial trade buying on decline and up to the close outgrowing of the market was very energetic.

The Government Cotton Crop Estimate is 12,314,000 Bales Our New York Office cable: Stocks: The list is displaying a firmer tone but dullness is likely to continue temporarily.

Wheat: Liverpool heavy but our market lacks buying interest and leadership. The market is becoming oversold, cash strong and purchases are advised on further declines. Cotton: There was buying from Liverpool and the trade on opening, and some hedge selling from the South, otherwise the market was featureless. The market closes at 11.55 for Government Cotton Report and increasing sentiment that early adoption of 11-12 program likely.

DR. C. J. PAGLAR'S APPEAL

CHIEF JUSTICE RESERVES JUDGMENT

The Chief Justice of the F.M.S., Sir Walter Huggard, reserved judgment in the appeal of Dr. C. J. Paglar from the decision of the Medical Council to strike his name off the register on the ground of unprofessional misconduct.

Sir David Galloway sat with His Lordship, as assessor.

Mr. V. D. Knowles, counsel for the appellant, contested the point made by Mr. J. G. Campbell, for the Medical Council, that the Council should be regarded as a domestic tribunal. It was not like a Club the powers of which could be absolute.

Again, the question of good Government did not always enter into Medical Council decisions because some of them concerned acts which were perfectly innocent from the point of view of the public.

"After all," continued Mr. Knowles, "a doctor is not allowed by a Medical Council to advertise a nursing home but if he did, that could not be considered against good Government."

"There is an analogy in my own profession."

GOLF CLUB SENSATION
SEQUEL TO LAW SUIT
CLUB EXPELS MEMBER

Mr. J. C. McIlwraith, a solicitor, of Carlisle-road, Hamilton, Lanarkshire, was expelled from the Hamilton Golf Club, at a meeting of the members for conduct which, it was alleged, was unsportsmanlike and obnoxious to the majority of the members. The decision was carried by 92 votes to 25.

A special meeting was summoned on a petition of members who were dissatisfied with the action of Mr. McIlwraith in going to court to settle a difference between him and the council of the club.

The first public intimation of this controversy was made when an action by Mr. McIlwraith against the club was called at Hamilton Sheriff Court.

APPEAL TO SHERIFF.
Mr. McIlwraith asked the sheriff to restrain the council of the club from playing off the second and succeeding rounds of the 'Shanks' Cup competition on the grounds that he (Mr. McIlwraith), having been a successful competitor in the first round, had been unreasonably debarred from playing in the second and succeeding rounds.

Sheriff Brown refused to grant the injunction, and the competition was completed.

It was argued by Mr. P. E. Soutter, solicitor and secretary of the club, that the reason why Mr. McIlwraith was not allowed to play was because he had not paid his annual subscription which was due in December, and, according to rule, anyone who had not paid by January, 1933, was debarred from playing in the competition.

Mr. McIlwraith's solicitor argued that according to the rules of the club, Mr. McIlwraith was entitled to take part in the second and succeeding rounds of the competition, having been allowed to play in the first round.

FULL PROGRAMME OF FIRST LOCAL SURFBOARD REGATTA

REPULSE BAY, THE VENUE IS IDEAL FOR SURFBOARD PADDLING

(By "Surfer")

THE programme for the first annual Surfboard Regatta of Hongkong which is to take place this month, has now been arranged.

THE event is sponsored by Mr. Eric Friman, who, in collaboration with other workers has drawn up the following schedule.

1. Men's Open Half Miles.
2. Ladies Open 100 yards Dash.
3. Boys (16 and under) 100 yards Dash.
4. Men's Open 10 yards Dash.
5. Men's (over 30 years) 100 yards Dash.
6. Ladies 440 yards Relay.
- (First four to finish in the 100 yards event. They will race against time to establish a local record)
7. Men's 440 yards Relay (Open Team Race).

A clever silhouette study of surfboard riding showing that it is possible for more than one rider to be on the board at the same time.

To the eye of the surfboard enthusiast there isn't a better spot to hold a race than in Hongkong. Upon mentioning the fact to a few who are vaguely familiar with the sport, I have been ridiculed, laughed at and all but refused the chance to explain just what a surfboard race is.

In Honolulu all of the championship paddling races are held on the smooth waters of the Alii Wai Canal. In America the surfmen have to put up with whatever Old Man Weather dishes out to them on the day of the race. I have seen the Pacific Coast Championships held at Santa Monica, California, in waters few would undertake to swim in. All of this calls for excellent training, for when one enters one of these races the type of surfboard used and the way one races is largely decided upon by Father Neptune. One may be paddling in lake-smooth water or the choppy angry waves that call for plenty of reserve and a brave spirit.

TWO KINDS OF RACES.

There are essentially two kinds of surfboard races. First the original which the Hawaiians sponsored in days long gone by. It starts from shore where the entrants paddle their boards out and around a designated spot and back through the line of waves. This race can be packed with all sorts of thrills and excitement. I have seen a last-placed man catch a wave when the race was all but over, and ride it so well as to pass the leader who was not so fortunate to be in a position to catch one himself, when he paddled into the vicinity of the surf, although he was by some two or three hundred feet the leader in the race at that time.

This kind of a race has always been a drawing card. For once the competitors reach the surf it is often anybody's race.

The second kind of a race is a straight paddling affair over a measured course. The American A.A.U. sponsors six regular events of this sort for men and women. The distances being the same each year all have championship times behind them, as a consequence they are all well established and recognized events. Out of these six events I know of no choice for popularity. Of course everybody has their favourite competitor. In most races, but to choose one race as being the best of all depends largely on the competitors themselves.

At nearly every regatta there are novice races for boys and girls, as well as a special event for men over thirty years of age. The times made recently by some of the youngsters certainly indicate that the championship records of to-day are in danger of being erased from their present stable looking position. Only last month a thirteen year old boy by the name of Paul Mauka of Honolulu, paddled the 400 yard novice race in

JARDINE DROPS OUT
Unable To Lead England

London, Aug. 8.
Douglas Jardine, the Surrey leader, has announced that he will be unable to captain England against the West Indies in the third Test match at the Oval this Saturday.

Jardine is suffering from the after-effects of a blow on the knee sustained from Ashdown's bowling whilst playing against Kent yesterday-week.—Router.

Although no indication has yet been given by the Test Selection Committee as to who will succeed Jardine, it seems fairly certain that R.E.S. Wyatt of Warwickshire will be called upon to shoulder the burden. Wyatt has acted as deputy captain in the two previous Tests and also held that position in Australia last winter.

9175 RUNS FOR 238 WICKETS

EIGHTEEN THREE FIGURE INNS.

LEICESTER OUTPLAYED BUT FINALLY WIN

Magnificent Bowling By Charlie Parker

London, Aug. 8.
County cricket batsmen during the last three days found run-getting as easy as stripping a cherry tree of its fruit. Some extraordinary scoring resulted.

Here are a few illuminating statistics:

Nine matches, including the West Indies encounter with Glamorgan produced 9,175 runs for 238 wickets—and average of nearly 40 run per wicket.

In each of four matches over 1,000 runs were scored.

Eighteen batsmen reached three figure scores. Two obtained double centuries.

Although Somerset scored 439 runs in two innings Charlie Parker of Gloucester took 12 of their wickets for 169 runs.

FINE RECOVERY.

The upshot of this phenomenal scoring was four games left drawn. Surrey, Kent, Lancashire and Essex garnered first innings points, whilst the maximum fell to Sussex, Gloucester, Leicestershire and Derby.

Among the several outstanding features of the play was the brilliant recovery by Worcester against Essex, who, after following on 250 runs in arrears, easily saved the game. The honours went to the Nawab of Pataudi and C.F. Walters, the Test player. They made such light work of the Essex attack after a mediocre display in the first innings, that when stumps were drawn Worcester had put on 472 for 3.

Pataudi helped himself to 231 and was undefeated, and Walters added with 134.

YORKSHIRE HELD.

Lancashire brought Yorkshire's succession of big successes to an abrupt stop by winning on the first innings. To this they were indebted to Hopwood and Hawkwood, whose centuries made possible the total of 421 in response to Yorkshire's 290.

But everything else was capped by Leicestershire's sensational victory over Northants.

No less than 130 in arrears on the first innings, and with Northants declaring closed their second knock at 152-7, Leicestershire were, for three parts of the game outplayed. But they batted brilliantly for a fourth time on a wearing wicket, and snatched an almost impossible victory by scoring 283 for the loss of six wickets.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Helene Madson, who holds more world's and Olympic records as a swimmer than any other woman in the history of sport, has an important role in "The Warrior's Husband". Jesse L. Lasky's second production for Fox Film, very shortly to be seen at the King's Theatre.

Miss Madson, who decided to give up her amateur rating "because there's no money in it", has been in Hollywood since the Olympic Games, preparing for a screen career. Her role as the Sergeant in the Julian F. Thompson Broadway success will mark her debut in a full-length production.

Ellena Landi and Ernest Truex are co-starred in "The Warrior's Husband", with Marjorie Rambeau, Helen Ware and Maude Eburne in important supporting roles. Walter Lang directed.

"Smilin' Through".

In "Smilin' Through", her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which is coming on Sunday to the Queen's Theatre Miss Shearer has a role far removed from those which have taken her along the bypaths which lead away from convention.

Miss Shearer's role in "Smilin' Through" is frankly tinged with sentimentality. It is completely devoid of that sophisticated which marked her characterizations in "Strangers May Kiss", "A Free Soul" and "Strange Interlude".

The story abounds in pathos. Ever since Jane Cowl first presented it on the New York stage, it has served as the model by which sentimentality in drama is measured. "As sweet and poignant as 'Smilin' Through' has come to be a phrase by which critics point their comparisons.

In this turning to wistful romance, Miss Shearer sheds the "woman of the world" character for the first time since the peach blossom fragrance of "The Student Prince" in the old days of silent films.

In "Smilin' Through" she portrays two different girls whose romantic experiences affect the life of one man at an interval of fifty years. First, as Moonyeen Clare, in 1868, she is the betrothed of a young English aristocrat, played by Leslie Howard. Later in 1914, she becomes Kathleen Sheridan, with Fredric March as her lover.

Sidney Franklin directed this M-G-M production. Others in the cast are O. P. Heggie, Ralph Forbes, Beryl

Mercer, David Torrence, Margaret Seddon and Forester Harvey.

"The Animal Kingdom." Ann Harding and Leslie Howard are again co-starred. This time it is RKO-Radio Pictures' adaptation of that delightful Philip Barry play that was last season's stage hit in New York—"The Animal Kingdom." Leslie Howard is playing the part he created on the stage. The same is true of William Gargan as the pugilist butler, and of Ilka Chase as a not-too-bright society woman.

"The Animal Kingdom" shows a searching study of modern life. It shows, with almost clinical insight, that man's mistresses do not necessarily live out of wedlock—that many of them are those who preen themselves under the title of "respectable wife".

Miss Harding plays the mistress who turns out really to deserve the name of wife. Leslie Howard is, of course, the husband. Myrna Loy plays the seductive wife. Others in the cast not already mentioned are Neil Hamilton, Henry Stephenson, Leni Stengel and Donald Dillaway.

Edward H. Griffith has directed "The Animal Kingdom" from the script by Horace Jackson. The picture has been beautifully staged and with four beautiful women in the cast and the background one culture and wealth, the gowns are something to rave about.

"Rain". Music which the audience never hears plays a vital part in John Crawford's interpretation of her screen roles.

The star of the United Artists picture, "Rain", now showing at the King's Theatre, with Joan Crawford in the starring role, listens to everything from grand opera and symphonies and crooners and popular artists to help her get in the mood for scenes.

A phonograph operated by an expert who has worked with her for five years and who knows what records to play to fit her moods, is the star's constant companion on the set.

For example, if she was suddenly required to step into a crying scene, she placed back and forth in a secluded corner of the set, then a record such as "Estrellita," "Moonlight Sonata," "Sylvia" or "The Swan" was played, and the tears began to flow.

For dramatic moods she likes instrumental recordings of Wagnerian operas such as "Tristan and Isolde," "The Flying Dutchman" and "Valhalla," portions of Franz Liszt's "Les Preludes," the Franck Symphony in D Minor, and the music of Grieg.

When she has light, happy scenes to enact, she is fond of music from

"Reunion in Vienna"

With John Barrymore and Miss Diana Wynyard in the roles created on the stage by Alfred Lunt and Miss Lynn Fontanne, "Reunion in Vienna," Robert E. Sherwood's gay, bantering and slightly rueful comedy about an exiled Hapsburg archduke and his ex-sweetheart, was brought to the screen of the Queen's Theatre with complete and gratifying success. Delightfully played, intelligently directed and retaining both the spirit and the letter of the original, the new photoplay is a happy excursion into the realms of that sort of narrative which can be described handily as both "sophisticated" and "nostalgic." To a high degree the work captures the half-sad, half-wistful mood in which Mr. Sherwood contemplated the lovely and city of Vienna with its faded grandeur and its faded nobility, its inescapable romance and "its last remaining industry," psycho-analysis. "Reunion in Vienna" continues to be what it was upon the stage—an amusing and yet somehow touching comedy of the recapture of lost love.

"Reunion in Vienna" is a work in which the acting is all-important, and should the leading players fail to capture and maintain its mood the result would probably be fatal. Mr. Barrymore brings all of his enormous skill to the character and offers one of the most best portrayals that he has yet managed upon the screen. After "Topaze," and now "Reunion in Vienna," it can safely be said that Mr. Barrymore has regained upon the screen the position he had upon the stage.

It is slightly surprising to see Miss Wynyard in a role that makes demands on her skill as a deft comedienne, rather than as a player of tragic roles, but, she, too, plays with a combination of lightness and a sad-eyed charm that results in a portrayal both touching and amusing.

her cooking. After she had been at work for some time she was startled to hear the cries of the baby mingled with a peculiar angry, animal screaming.

The mother rushed upstairs and found a small monkey molesting the child. She drove the animal away and summoned an ambulance, for the baby's cheeks were swollen and bruised, and badly scratched and bitten. The infant was rushed to hospital.

JAPANESE ATTACK ON DOLONOR

HEAVY BOMBING FROM AIR

PEACE HOPES AND WAR ACTION

Peking, Aug. 9.
The statement of the Tokyo War Office, expressing a hope for lasting peace, appears to have coincided with a fresh Japanese attack in Chinese territory.

A combined force of Japanese and Manchukuo troops is officially reported to be advancing on Dolonor, which they are expected to occupy in the very near future.
At the same time, a number of Japanese planes are bombing heavily behind Dolonor and at Kuyuan, where much damage was done, according to official reports.
Other Chinese reports state that many persons were killed during the bombing.
Meanwhile, the Japanese withdrawal from the demilitarized zone has not been completed, Miyun being still in their hands.—Reuter.

DEATH OF SIR E. GOESCHEN

FORMER DIPLOMATIC FIGURE

(Our Own Correspondent).

The Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraph Message Organisation, 1933. Reprinted, Aug. 9, 1933.

London, Aug. 8.
Sir Edward Henry Goeschen, partner of Messrs. Joseph Sebag and Co., died to-day at the age of 57.

Son of the Rt. Hon. Sir W. E. Goeschen, the first baronet, he succeeded his father in 1924. He married the Countess Marie, daughter of Count Danneberg-Samsøe of Denmark in 1908.

Educated at Eton, the late Sir Edward was Hon. Attaché at Petrograd in 1897 and at Tangier in 1901. He was later Controller of the Secretariat in the Egyptian Ministry of Finance, and among his decorations were Officer of the Order of the Crown of Italy, 3rd Class, and the South African Medal.

The heir to the title is the eldest son, Edward Christian Goeschen.

PENNY A MILE ON RAILWAYS

BACK TO PRE-WAR LEVEL

London, Aug. 8.
The main line British railway companies announced the continuation until the end of 1933 of the special summer passenger fare.

THE DUNCAN PLAN REVIVED

BIG RECLAMATION AND NEW JETTIES

COSTLY PROJECT

GOVERNMENT'S ULTIMATE PLANS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF HUNG HOM BAY HAVE EMERGED AS A MATTER OF INTEREST IN VIEW OF THE COAL DUMP PROTEST AND THE SUGGESTIONS FOR THE USE OF THE RAILWAY LAND FOR A BIG LIDO SCHEME.

Replying to the deputation which waited upon him yesterday, Mr. Trautman indicated that the area had been definitely earmarked for port development.

It is interesting to note that the proposals have been before Government for nearly nine years, since in 1924 they were recommended for immediate construction by Mr. John Duncan, the Port Engineer.

The scheme provides for about fifteen steamers berthing simultaneously and was estimated to cost, in 1924, over $14,000,000. Mr. Duncan regarded the proposals as linked with the construction of the remaining portion of the Canton-Hankow Railway, and with this project now under way, the Hung Hom Bay scheme, shelved in 1925, may also be revived.

FULL DESCRIPTION OF PLANS

That part of Mr. Duncan's report, which concerns the Hung Hom Bay area, was laid before the Legislative Council as long ago as December 29, 1924, and refers to the fact that in April, 1923, Messrs. Butterfield and Swire had made application for additional berthing accommodation to the extent of 1,200 feet to the north of Messrs. Alfred Holt and Co.'s then existing wharfage.

In the new scheme of development proposed by Mr. Duncan, the south-west portion would allow for extending, by 80 feet, the existing berthing, making Holt's East Wharf 550 feet in length. Extending in a northerly direction, a length of 1,300 feet of additional wharfage, having a depth of 34 feet of water alongside at low water, may be constructed and for the purpose of erecting "transit warehouses" contiguous with the wharfage, sufficient area of land could be provided by reclamation.

With regard to the principal portion of the scheme, Mr. Duncan's proposals include plans to reclaim areas adjoining the railway reclamation and to project from the new reclamation three large jetties in an easterly direction.

SHIP BASIN.

These jetties, together with a long quay wall protecting the northern area of the new reclamation would form a ship basin 1,200 feet long and 400 feet wide, having berthing 2,400 feet in length with a depth of 34 feet (or if required 36 feet) of water alongside at low water, and two jetties 160 feet wide, having berthing of about 4,240 feet in length, with a depth of 12 feet of water alongside.

The southern area of the new reclamation would be protected by a quay wall 1,200 feet in length with a depth of 34 feet of water, in continuation of which Jetty No. 1 having the same depth of water on its south side and 12 feet on its north side, extended for a distance of 1,250 feet. The continuation of this jetty in a northerly direction would provide on its south-east side 900 feet of berthing, and on its north-west side 750 feet of berthing, with a depth of 30 feet of water alongside.

It is proposed that Jetty No. 2

the quay wall protecting the northern area of the new reclamation providing 420 feet of berthing on its inner side and 500 feet of berthing on its outer side, having a depth of 300 feet of water along side at low water.

TYPHOON SHELTER.

Jetties Nos. 1 and 2 would protect the ship and junk basins from typhoon seas and afford excellent shelter for small craft. An opening 430 feet wide between the ends of these jetties, form an entrance to the basins. It is not considered that tidal currents would cause any difficulties to ships coming alongside or leaving the wharves proposed.

The Report continues: Whilst Hung Hom Bay, due to its sheltered position and depth of water in the approaches offers the best site on the harbour front for the provision of wharfage with which—if required—railway communication can be readily given, the taking up of any berthing is not yet assured; and, as the cost of construction cannot be recovered by the disposal of land reclaimed in connexion with the scheme, it is proposed to only indicate the order in which installation of the works may be carried out and to give estimates of their cost.

OIL TANKS.

In order to provide for the discharge and storage of imported coal and oil fuel, it is proposed to utilize the north-east corner of Hung Hom Bay and a portion of higher ground to the north of same for the erection of oil tanks.

In regard to the arrangements for the handling and storage of coal, it is proposed to provide storage areas on each side and to the north of a basin 250 feet wide and of an average length of about 562 feet, having berthing of about 1,375 feet and to be dredged to a minimum depth of 12 feet at low water. Convenient access is given by road to these storage areas.

COLLIER BERTHS.

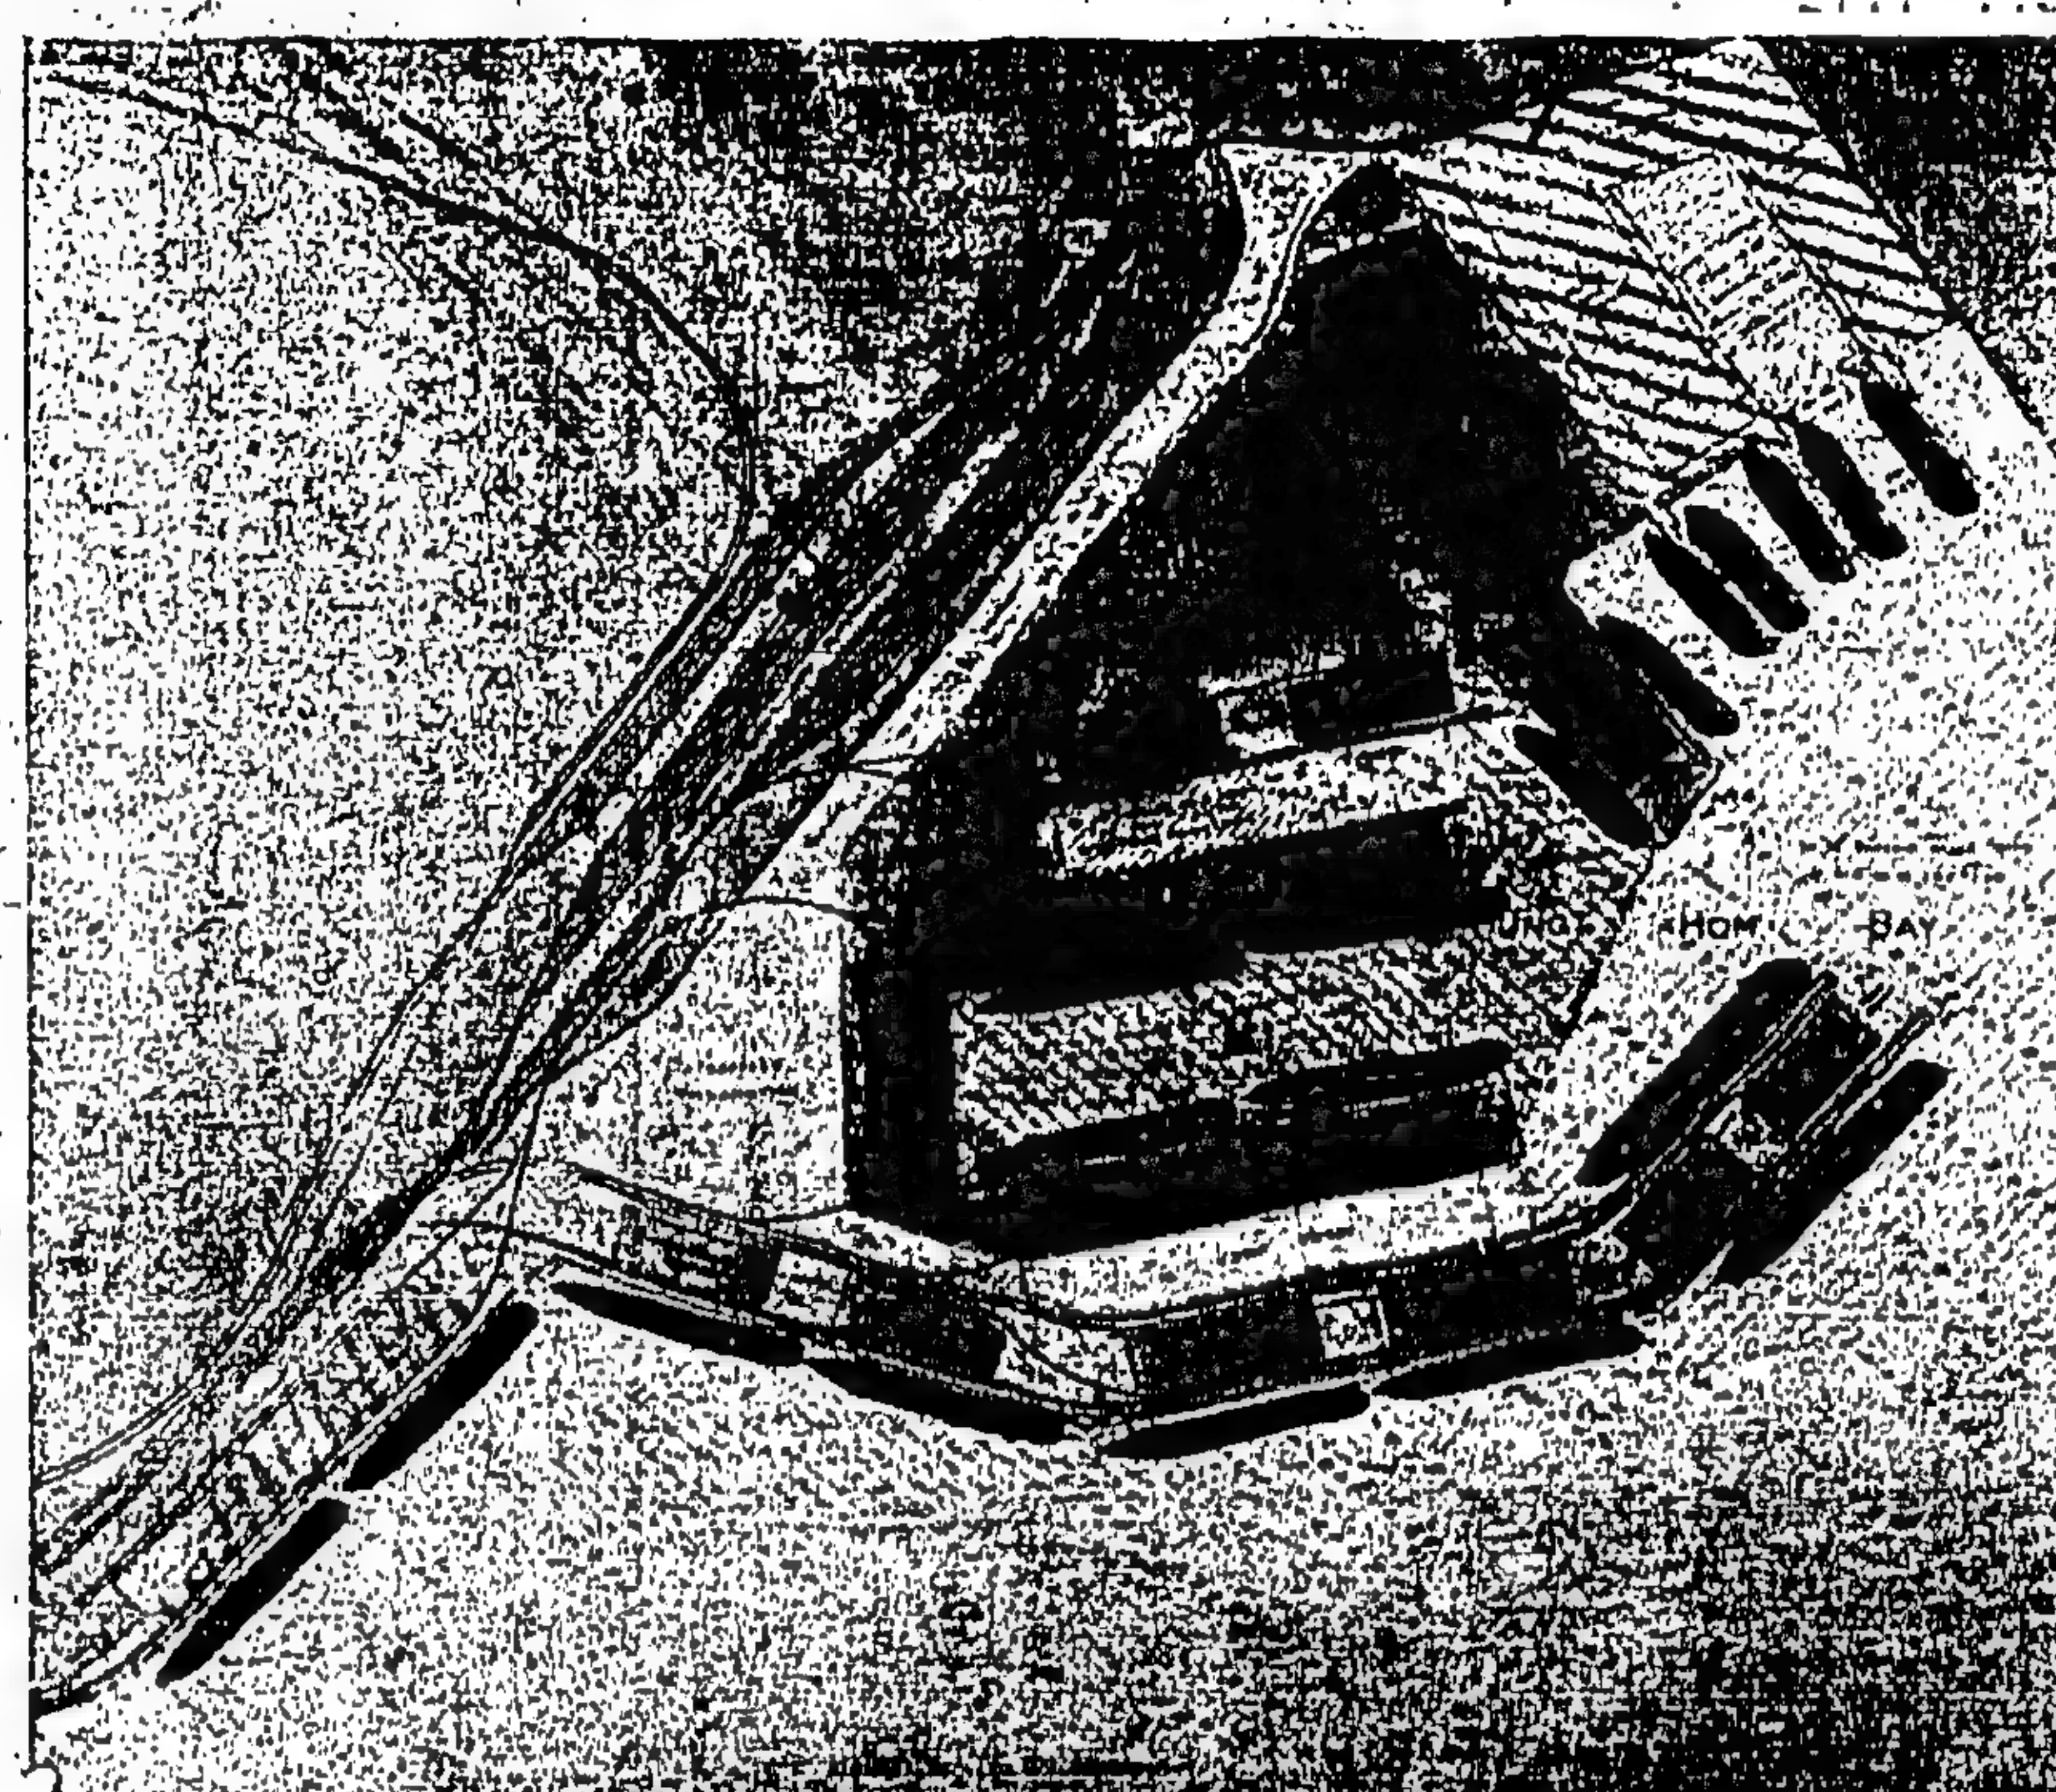

For berthing colliers, two piers, each 360 feet long, 40 feet wide and 250 feet apart, having a depth of 80 feet alongside, are provided, one on either side of the entrance to the coaling basin. The design is available for the erection of Photographed sketch illustrates the Hung Hom Bay port development scheme as conceived by Mr. John Duncan, the Port Engineer in 1924. The existing sea wall runs along the inside of the white strip from the left hand corner upwards, which will eventually become a 100-foot road and form the inside boundary of a huge dock basin. The main feature is the long quay wall and No. 1 jetty and other jetties, with berthing alongside, will be observed. The top right corner shows the proposed coal depot and basin. The position of this would be near the present railway bridge.

HARBOUR DRAMA

WOMAN & CHILDREN TRAPPED

RESCUE WORK BY LAUNCH CREW

After being trapped in the hold of a capsized sampan for over half an hour an old woman and two small children were rescued when the crew of the steam launch, Peggy, managed to right the craft.

It appears that while "Peggy" was steaming in the Central Fairway this morning at about 8.30 o'clock, a passenger sampan was suddenly capsized by a squall.

The launch immediately hastened to the scene and managed to save two women and a man who were struggling in the water. It was then found that the other occupants of the boat had been trapped in the hold.

The launch moved alongside the overturned craft but it was well over half an hour before her crew could right the sampan.

The old woman was unconscious and in a serious condition when extricated. She was sent to hospital. The two small children were resuscitated aboard the launch and are little the worse for their experience.

FIRST LEG OF OCEAN FLIGHT

WITHOUT MISHAP

London, Aug. 8.

General Balbo's air armada has completed the first leg of the second ocean crossing in its triumphant homeward journey and may be expected in Rome on Thursday.

For the time being, the armada has split into two groups.

All twenty-four machines have landed safely in the Azores from Ponta Delgada, Newfoundland, but nine of them have landed at Horta, while the remainder proceeded to Ponta Delgada.

The first batch landed at Horta at 7.25 p.m. British Summer Time. The other fifteen planes sailed gracefully down into the waters of Ponta Delgada on San Miguel Island, some thirty-five minutes later.

EVENTLESS TRIP

General Balbo was on board one of the machines which made the longer journey.
The crossing from Newfoundland was completed without untoward event. To-morrow, the airman will take off for their next hop, heading for the Portuguese

IRAQ REBEL CARNAGE

SERIOUS BATTLE ON FRONTIER

MANY KILLED AND WOUNDED

Bagdad, Aug. 8.

Serious fighting occurred to-day between Iraqi frontier guards and Assyrian tribesmen near the border.

A heavy toll of life was taken in a sanguinary encounter, heavy losses being inflicted on the Assyrians by the better-armed Iraqi troops.

Twenty Iraqi guards were killed and forty-five wounded in the course of the encounter, while the Assyrian losses were more than four times as heavy. Ninety-five of their number were killed outright, many of them mown down by machine-guns, while hundreds more were wounded.

The fighting is attributed to the dissatisfaction of the Assyrians with the new regime in Iraq.—Reuter.

The judges will be Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hunt.

MACHADO JIBS

BLANK REFUSAL TO RETIRE

U.S. INTERVENES IN VAIN

Havana, Aug. 9.

President Machado is refusing to be hustled into resignation, either actual or virtual.

To-day, the American Ambassador, Mr. Welles, called on the President and outlined the opinions of the Cuban political leaders, informing him that the consensus of opinion was that President Machado should ask Congress for leave of absence until Cuba's troubles are settled.

Mr. Welles pointed out that he was merely acting as a mediator. The statement was not in any sense an ultimatum from the United States.

President Machado immediately summoned a meeting of the Liberal Party of which he is a member and intimated that he had refused to accept the proposals.

It is understood that the principal proposal was that President Machado should name a Secretary of State who would be acceptable to all factions and afterwards ask for indefinite leave in which event the Secretary of State, under the Constitution, would succeed to the Presidency.—Reuter.

NAZI NIGHT RAID

BROADCASTERS ARRESTED

Berlin, Aug. 8.

Herr Alfred Baum, the German ex-broadcast announcer, and four other ex-broadcast chiefs, have been arrested and removed to the Oranienburg concentration camp.

The men were arrested in their beds during the night by police and Nazis.

The arrest is stated to be due to revelations of the "excessive salaries" they had been drawing under the Marxist system.—Reuter.

NATIONAL DEBT CHARGES

GREAT SAVING THIS YEAR

London, Aug. 8.

The total revenue for the current financial year up to last Saturday, including self-balancing revenue, amounted to $221,516,729. For the corresponding period of last year the total was $214,170,704.

Ordinary and self-balancing expenditure for the same period was $273,640,893 against $305,922,044 last year.

Expenditure during the current year on the management of the National Debt has been $95,647,220 as compared with $123,207,262 for the corresponding period of last year.—British Wireless.

CANADIAN LOAN AT PREMIUM

PREFERENCE TO SMALL INVESTORS

London, Aug. 8.

Dealings in Canadian 4 per cent. loan opened at a premium of 1 1/2 per cent. on the London Stock Exchange and at the close, the stock stood at 1 13/16 per cent. premium. The heavy oversubscription and subsequent withdrawal of the loan is understood that the Government will be able to place the loan at a lower rate than the current market rate.

MALAYAN CHAMPIONSHIP WON and British Record Broken with the help of PHOSFERINE

CHAMPION
OOI LEONG TEIK writes:—
"It is with the greatest pleasure that I write to testify to the benefits I have received by taking Phosferine during my training for the 1931 Malayan Weight-Lifting Championships.

As I had to reduce some seven or eight pounds off my normal bodyweight in order to enable me to compete in the 9-stone class, I had to go into very strenuous training, and with the help of Phosferine, I not only won the championship of that class, but also the Individual Championship, and, in addition I broke a British Record.

I therefore have no hesitation in recommending Phosferine to any physical culturist or athlete, whether he be in ordinary training or preparing for a competition, as it

GIVES ENERGY and ENDURANCE and

"The protector of life"

YOUR CHILDREN.

By Olive Roberts Barton

When school is over for the first week or two the children are as busy as one armed drummers. With their first taste of liberty they find plenty to do. All the things they haven't found time for they now go at head over heels. When they are not busy they are at least mentally content in the first flush of freedom.

And then things lose their edge. Gradually life flattens out again and becomes more or less of a vacuum. Laziness sets in and laziness begets idleness. Quarrels are in order and their mothers begin to look at the calendar and compute the number of weeks until school begins again.

Let's Find the Reasons

Now let us see what things contribute to summer quarreling.

First of all idleness. Play, real play, is not idleness. When children play there are of course disputes. I don't give a nickel for a child who doesn't get into a good healthy dispute once in awhile, even to losing his temper and hitting somebody on the jaw if need be. There is a lot to be said about this reaction of character on character, but not here to-day. We must stick to the subject in hand.

The second cause of ill temper, the chronic grouch, is getting up too late, stringing down one by one to an upset breakfast table and eating cold left-overs, sad fruit, and so on. A regular getting up hour, for all at the same time, starts the day right in vacation time as well as in school time.

No Plans, No Contentment

Third, an unplanned day. Drifting gives anyone the jitters. Proof of the tragedy of unfulfilled time has been demonstrated by unemployed men. "To be busy" has been even a louder cry than "to make money."

The mind that has no goal, nothing for it to get its teeth into, so to speak, turns back on itself for relief and all sorts of things happen. Queer things, too. I wish I could explain here some of the psychology of idleness. But one matter I may mention briefly. The mind has to be busy. When it is left without plan or purpose it falls back on its own emotions for exercise. What emotions give the mind the most relief? Self pity is one, rage or resentment is another. Odd as it seems both rage and resentment are very enjoyable emotions.

Southern exposure often attracts a northern son.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

Cellophane Is Personal Choice of Nicole, French Milliner

Nicole, the French milliner will arrive in Paris, wearing cellophane.

Leaving America on the Ile de France, Nicole wore a pert little beret, gauntlet gloves, a shoulder flower and envelope purse, all made of shining black cellophane, which contrasted handsomely with the white crepe-topped, black satin dress, topped by a black coat.

SKIRT LENGTHS

Shorter Dresses for Day-Time Wear

With a view to forcing the hand of the dress-makers, a well-known expert was able to extract more than one opinion as to skirt lengths. The height of a summer skirt above the ground is of far greater importance to the average woman than its general make as to straight or flaring lines. And the dressmakers think so too.

The new morning or town skirts, and the skirts that are more definitely for sports wear, will quite certainly be above mid-calf, and not below that length as they are now being worn.

They are certainly more chic when about an inch and a quarter above mid-calf, but they must not approach that unfortunate shorter line which reveals the bend of the knee at the back. This is tabooed.

Although dresses for day-time wear will be about mid-calf, those for evening wear will be long, of course. The Paris dressmakers positively believe in rather short day-time and sports clothes; the very idea of a longish dress for daytime is, unthinkable; anything which approaches the "taggy" or the "draggy" in effect is ageing, and no woman, no matter how young she may be, looks young in ankle-length skirts.

It is, of course, generally admitted that even the boldest skirt shortening must be modified according to individual lines and figure characteristics.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Hands Need Special Summer Care

By Alicia Hart

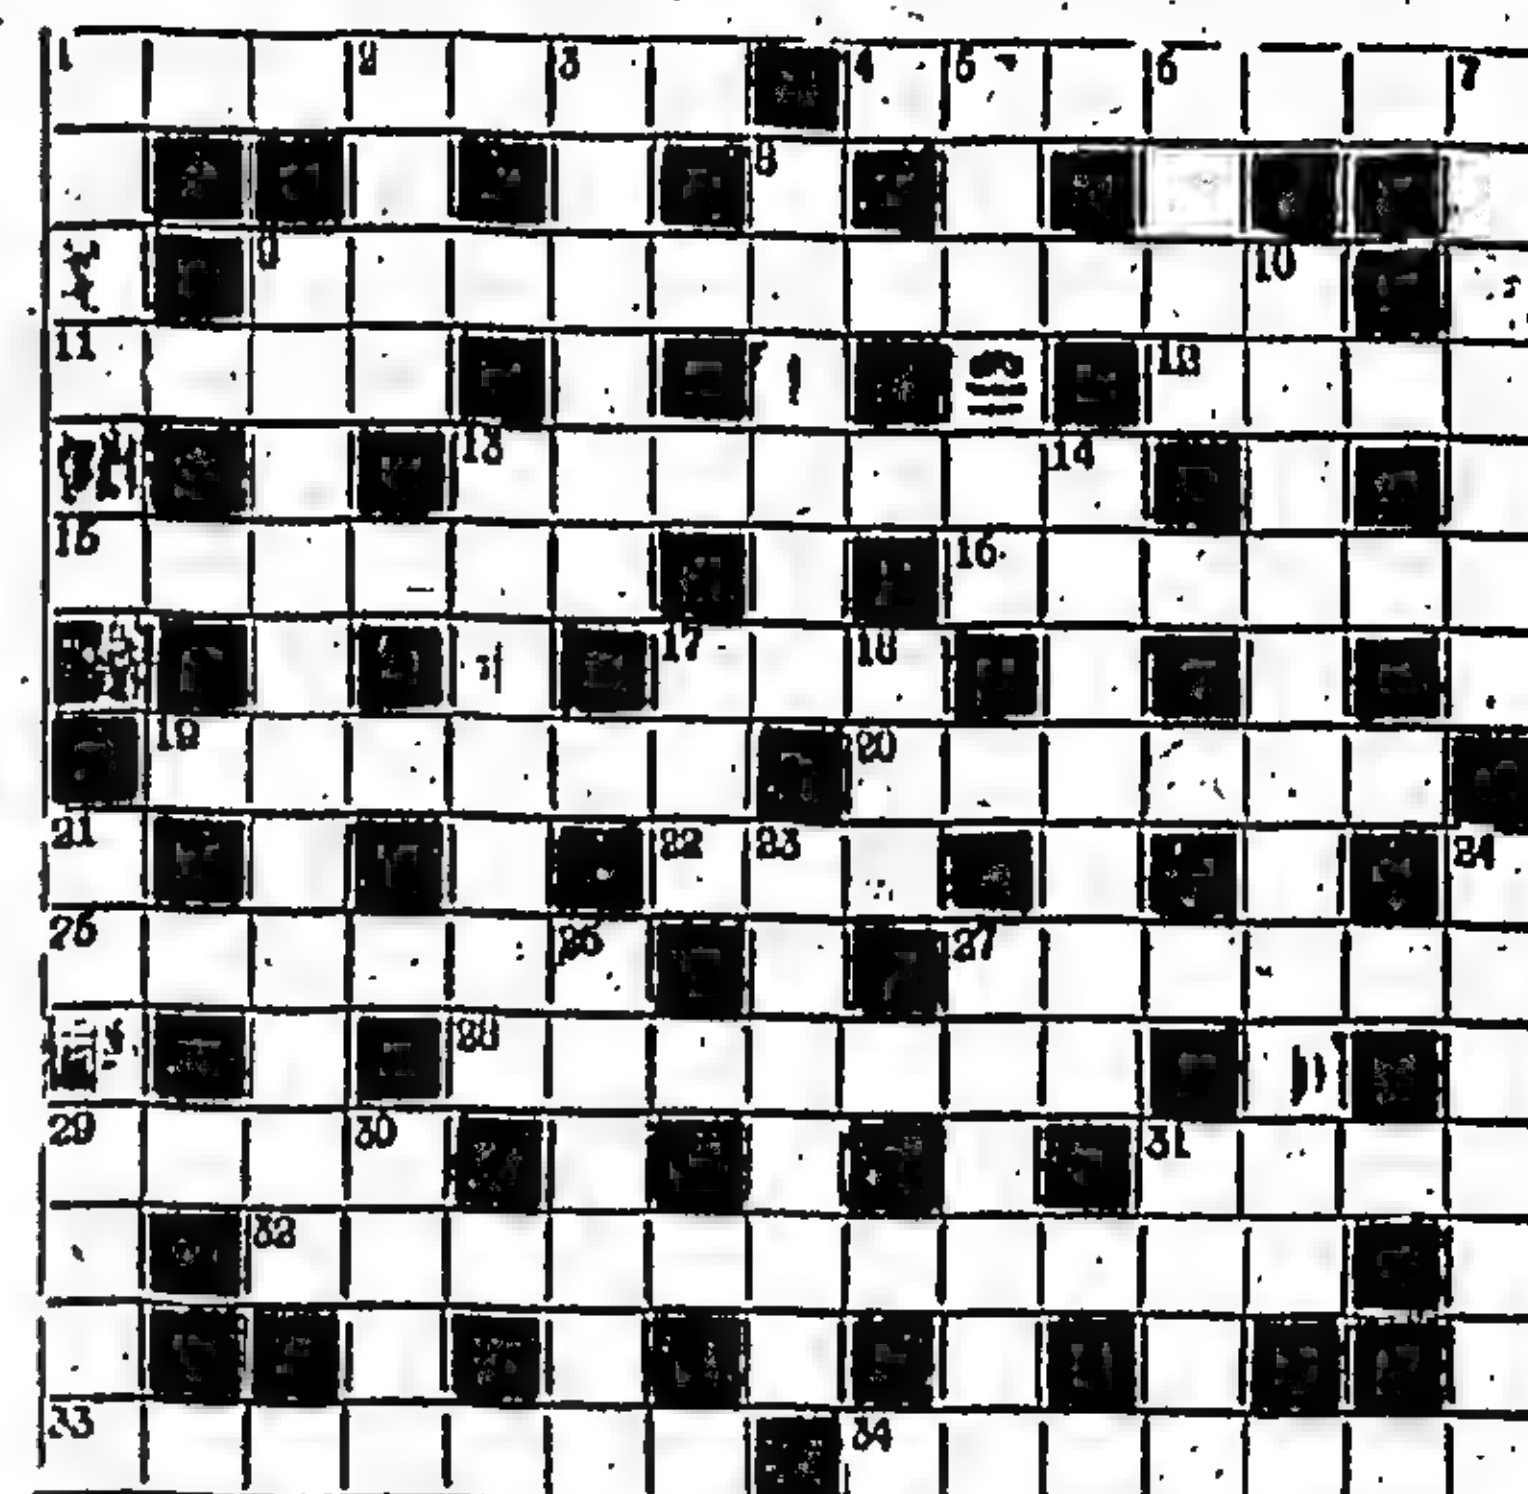

Don't neglect your hands this summer! Give them as much, if not more, attention than you did in the winter when you were in constant dread of their becoming red and chapped.

Hands that are rough, too tanned, or calloused from golf clubs, look pretty incongruous with delicate, filmy afternoon and evening frocks for summer. Do something daily to keep yours in excellent condition.

There are lotions in new bottles now. Perhaps you're tired of lotions which spill and get wasted every time you use them. Try a hand lotion in one of the new patented top bottles. You have to shake the bottle vigorously to get any lotion and then it finally comes out a few drops at a time. None is wasted and it isn't messy.

Don't let your hands get brown or that the rest of you. Hands have a tendency to become more tanned than your arms, face and shoulders. They are exposed often when the rest of your body is covered. You should wear gloves when you play golf or work in your garden. And apply a bleaching lotion often. Pamoco will remove the callouses which you acquire if you go in for active sports or drive a car very much.

In yesterday's instalment the little Tsarina, who had been at play, looking at the Tsarina, had been appalled at the horror in her face.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER SIX

A hysterical note rang in the Tsarina's voice:

"Quickly, Paul, quickly! Get Dr. Remezov—Dr. Remezov!"

"But Your Highness—it was only a tumble. He's bleeding from a scratch. I'll take him into the nursery and bind it up. It's not worth calling the doctor."

"You don't know. Get the Doctor! Tell him that the bleeding has started. Quickly now!"

Without further objections, Paul ran from the garden, and down the long corridor of the Imperial Palace which led to the Guard Room. Here he telephoned to the doctor, a well known physician of the capital, who had, Paul remembered, officiated at the birth of the Tsarevitch.

The telephone call was completed, Prince Paul spoke to a nurse in Remezov's office. The doctor was out visiting General Kuznetzkoff, who suffered from gout. If it was an urgent matter, Prince Paul could reach him there.

Kuznetzkoff's house was on the Nevsky Prospect. Paul knew the house. He had often been there to tea when he had been a cadet. He decided to go and fetch the doctor himself.

He ran down the broad steps to the street, called for his car. When it drew up, he flung himself in without waiting for the footmen to open the door, slammed the door behind him and then ordered the driver to drive like mad to Kuznetzkoff's house.

He found Dr. Remezov, a short neatly-bearded gentleman with pince-nez and habitually worried expression, just on the point of leaving.

Paul told him of the circumstances which had brought him.

As soon as Remezov heard that the Tsarevitch was bleeding, his usually worried expression changed to one of deep concern.

Without saying a word, he crossed to the telephone that stood in Kuznetzkoff's hallways and put in a call for Vienna, please. Dr. Remezov speaking, Paul heard him say.

Still more puzzled at the Doctor's concern than he had been at the Empress's frantic demand for the doctor, Paul questioned him.

"But, doctor, it was only a slight fall."

"It's a good deal more serious than that," Remezov said slowly. He spoke swiftly into the mouthpiece of the telephone.

"Vienna, yes. I want to talk to Doctor Franz Wolff there."

Still holding the phone, he turned his head again to Paul.

"Did you ever hear of haemophilia?" he asked gravely.

Paul swayed slightly in spite of himself.

"The Empress's uncle died of it."

His mouth was set in a straight line. Haemophilia! It was inherent on the Tsarina's side, like the sword poised over the head of Damocles, with its inevitable doom.

Remezov's answer was not encouraging.

"Her grandfather died of it also," he said, shaking his head.

But, Alexei!

"It's impossible," Paul exclaimed, desperately. "Why, the boy's a young animal, full of life!"

"To look at," Remezov answered. "But there's an element lacking in the blood. The slightest injury may cause him to bleed to death."

"Can nothing be done?" Paul asked despairingly.

Remezov shrugged his shoulders. "Wolff knows more than the rest of us about haemophilia," he said.

"Still, that's very little. I only hope he knows how to stop the pain."

"God!" Paul exclaimed, his memory flashing back to Alexei at play, Alexei with his loving parents, Alexei facing the crowd with a radiant smile.

For two whole weeks, officers, merchants, peasants kept eager vigil at a bulletin board which was fastened to the gate outside the palace. And always the report from the Physicians in Ordinary read ominously:

"The condition of His Imperial Highness continues to be grave."

Now, as hundreds braved a driving rain, questioning those fortunate enough to be able to read the most recent report on the condition of the beloved Tsarevitch, there was a sudden stir in the crowd.

A military messenger swore at the crowd as he fought his way to the gate, the mob eyeing him curiously, praying that his haste might mean hope.

The message was handed swiftly from guard to guard. It was Natasha who received it from the excited court chamberlain. The girl ran hurriedly, yet silently, to the inner chamber of the little Tsarevitch's apartment where the Empress, her features haggard from lack of sleep, was kneeling before a prayer.

"Yes?" she said in a low, vibrant voice.

For answer, Natasha bowed and pressed the telegram into her hand. The Tsarina seized it eagerly. She tore it open.

"From Paul!" she cried out. "Thank God! Paul has found Doctor Wolff!"

Natasha uttered a cry of relief. Excitedly she asked:

"Where are they Madame?"

The Tsarina's face was alight

with hope as she answered:

"At the frontier. He'll be here to-morrow."

Softly, she entered the darkened sickroom.

As she came in a nurse whispered:

"No change, Madame."

The Tsar, sitting by the sick bed looked up. Silently the Tsarina gave him the telegram. She was momentarily exultant. He read it quickly. Without rising he rested his head against her, clinging to her gently. She rested him with a whisper:

"He's the greatest doctor in the world. Look! The track must be cleared for that train! Tell them!"

The Tsar rose, nodding excitedly, and tip-toed out of the room.

The Tsarevitch looked up, his face pale on the wide pillow.

"Mamma..." he murmured.

She smiled, an anguished smile and slowly, as if she hardly dared touch him, she put her hand on his forehead.

"Mamma, will you say my prayers? I can't remember them," he asked.

Unseen by the boy, the Tsarina clutched the nurse's hand. The pressure was such that the nurse winced. But the Empress's face remained calm, even serene, as she spoke to her son. She began the prayer:

"Gentle Jesus, meek and mild... Look upon a little child."

"Is that the one?" she asked softly. "Pity my simplicity..."

Now she was really unable to continue.

"There's some more..." the Tsarevitch said weakly.

"Suffer me to come to Thee..."

The Tsarevitch stirred uneasily. "And ask Him not to make it hurt..."

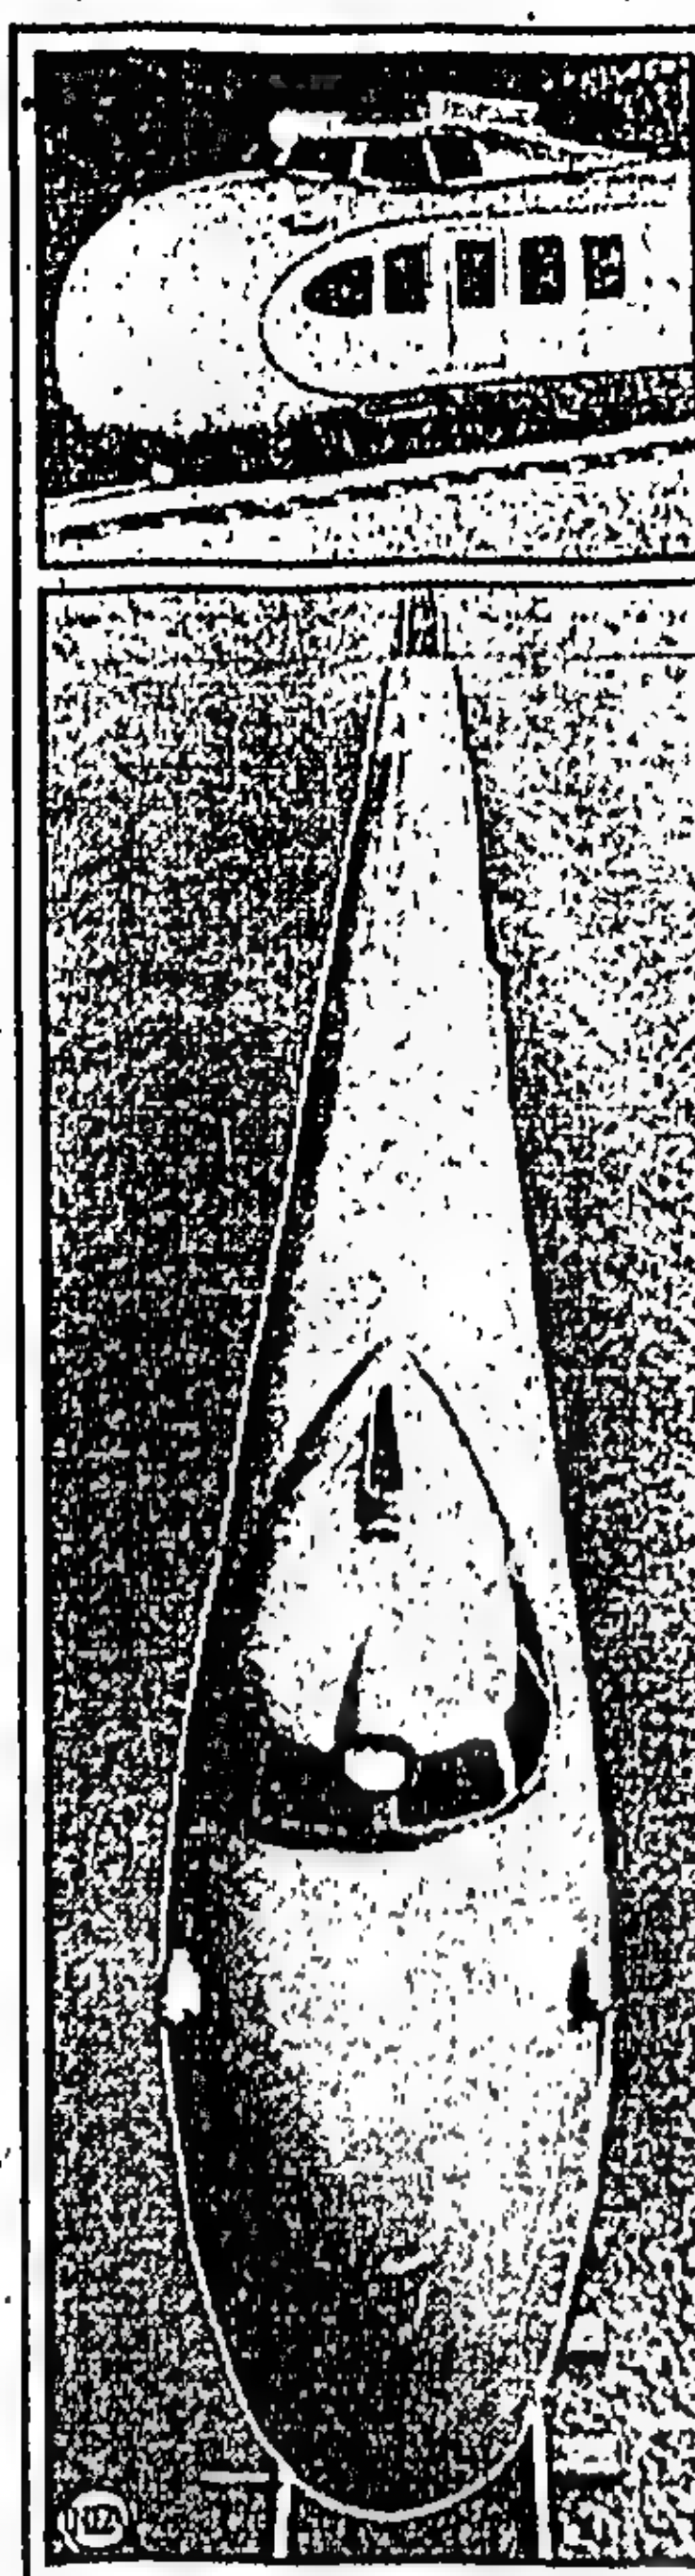

In spite of herself a terrible low cry escaped the Empress. The nurse made a warning gesture, but it was too late. She could not control herself.

Natasha appeared in the doorway, alarmed. Behind her came Remezov. He pushed Natasha aside and strode into the room. The Tsarina's stifled sobs came over them all.

"Don't, Mamma," the Tsarevitch murmured sympathetically, through his pain.

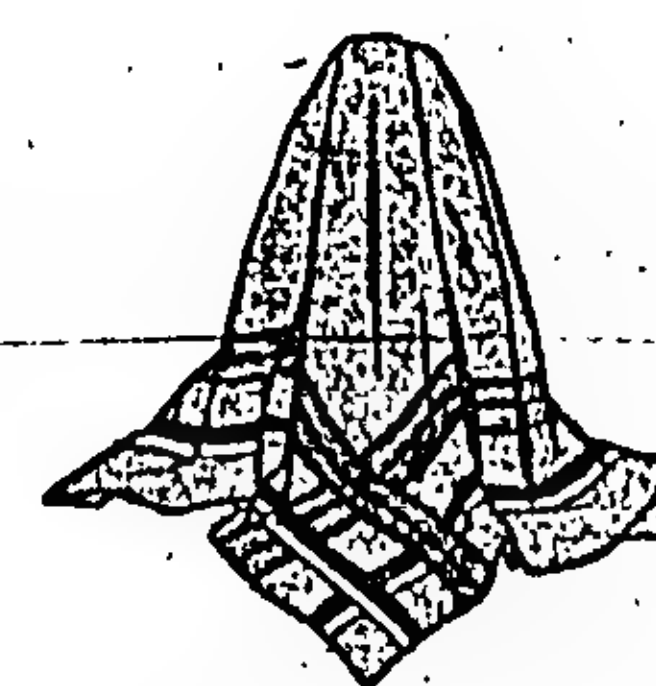

The Tsarina lowered her hands

COAL DUMP SCANDAL

KOWLOON DEPUTATION VISITS
COLONIAL SECRETARY

Following on the recent public meeting of Kowloon residents in connexion with the seafront coal dump, representatives of the residents concerned waited upon the Colonial Secretary yesterday.

The deputation was received in the afternoon and remained an hour, during which Mr. J. A. Tarrant put their views forward fully and asked if the Government would take steps to remove the coal dump.

In reply the Colonial Secretary stated that the development of the land abutting the coal dump was being carefully considered with a view to Port development, and that the view of the delegation would be put before H.E. the Governor as soon as possible.

The deputation, consisting of Messrs. E. A. Sykes, R. J. Shrigley and J. A. Tarrant, duly waited on the Hon. Mr. D. W. Tarrant, Acting Colonial Secretary by appointment at 3 p.m. yesterday, Mr. C. E. Ferry being unavoidably absent from the deputation owing to urgent business.

On behalf of the deputation, the views of property owners, lessees of property and tenants etc. were placed before the Colonial Secretary, and Mr. Tarrant as spokesman said:—

The area in Kowloon which from earliest times may be considered as essentially the European residential reservation, is comprised within the following boundaries:—On the East, Chatham Road; the North, Austin Road; the West, Nathan Road; and the South, Salisbury Road.

Over forty years ago, there existed in that area such desirable and well-known residences as Victoria View, Knutsford Terrace, Canton Villas, Lyceum Villas, and many detached houses. A few years later were added Gomes Villas, The R.A. Mess premises, Ormsby Villas and many smaller residences extending from Chatham Road to Nathan Road.

Enormous Capital Invested. This area has always been regarded as eminently desirable for reasons of its health, convenience, pleasant surroundings and outlook. The past three decades have witnessed remarkable developments particularly during the last few years. All this represents an enormous capital investment. Further important development is expected, schemes having been recently devised, and land acquired for the erection of European residences on an extensive and elaborate scale, involving further considerable capital expenditure. During the very long period under review it cannot be gainsaid that the development of this residential area has had the recognition, approval, and encouragement of the Hongkong Government.

The population of the aforesaid area must be very large; it could be ascertained. The rateable value of properties therein comprised would total a considerable sum. It represents a very important revenue to the Colony, which promises to be greatly increased by the building schemes now in contemplation.

Big Revenue Supplied. The present position may be briefly summed up as follows:—In this residential area a vast amount of capital is invested in property by various corporations, companies, and private persons. In order that these properties should prove permanent and remunerative investments, expense has not been spared in equipping the houses and tenements with the most modern conveniences and appliances.

The great number of residents in this area pay a very considerable total sum in respect of rents and rates; and paying such rent and rates, they are entitled to the quiet enjoyment of their premises, a very essential point of agreement between landlord and tenant.

In respect of these properties, the Colony receives large sums annually in rates and taxes.

This happy condition of affairs has been maintained uninterruptedly for many years, to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. Now, however, it is definitely threatened with interruption, and with serious consequences.

That menace is the extensive dump of coal and coal dust which has been recently placed on the Kowloon Canton Railway land abutting on the sea front opposite to Chatham Road.

Early Vacation Suggested. This coal dump constitutes a nuisance to occupiers of houses and tenements in its vicinity, and owners of property have become alarmed at the consequences to them of its continuance and possible development. Tenants are disturbed in the quiet enjoyment of their premises by this nuisance, their continued occupation is rendered impossible, and they will naturally vacate them at the earliest opportunity. These conditions were confirmed at the recent public meeting of property owners, lessees of property, prospective investors, and builders and tenants generally, when a resolution was unanimously passed to the effect "that the existence of this coal dump constitutes a nuisance to the tenants of the neighbouring houses, renders the neighbourhood undesirable as a residential district, and seriously depreciates the value of adjacent property."

Criticisms and experiences of tenants expressed at that meeting have been reported in the local press.

Considering the great interests involved which affect all parties concerned, including the Hongkong Government, it seems beyond comprehension that the Kowloon Canton Railway, a department of the Hongkong Government, should have permitted the land under their control to be used for the purpose stated, thereby creating the conditions we have briefly endeavoured to describe.

Interests Ignored. In this matter the interests of property owners and residents do not appear to have been taken into consideration, rather that they were ignored, or treated as non-existent.

It is presumed that the railway land in question has been let with the object of obtaining revenue therefrom. We are not aware that its proposed letting for such a purpose was put to public tender and duly advertised. Had that been done we feel sure that public interest would have been aroused immediately, and if it were a question of the Government greatly needing the revenue to be derived therefrom, or considered that such land should be earning revenue, other and very desirable schemes would have been proposed, (as is now being done) from which a greater revenue might be assured.

Moreover such other schemes would not depreciate the large revenue already being received by the Government from this area in question, or interfere with any further increase arising from developments in contemplation.

Furthermore, we are assured that on the harbour frontage many other sites are available for use as coal dumps, equally suitable and convenient to the coal merchant, and which would not create a nuisance to the public.

Question to Government.

Before taking further action in this matter we, the deputation appointed by the property owners, lessees and tenants of the afflicted area, on their behalf most respectfully beg to enquire what are the intentions of the Hongkong Government with regard to the coal dump in question; whether in view of the complaints and protests that have been expressed thereat, the Government has taken, or contemplates taking, any action to secure its removal. Or, on the contrary, whether the Government will allow the said nuisance to persist and be further indefinitely extended with the serious consequences that seem inevitable.

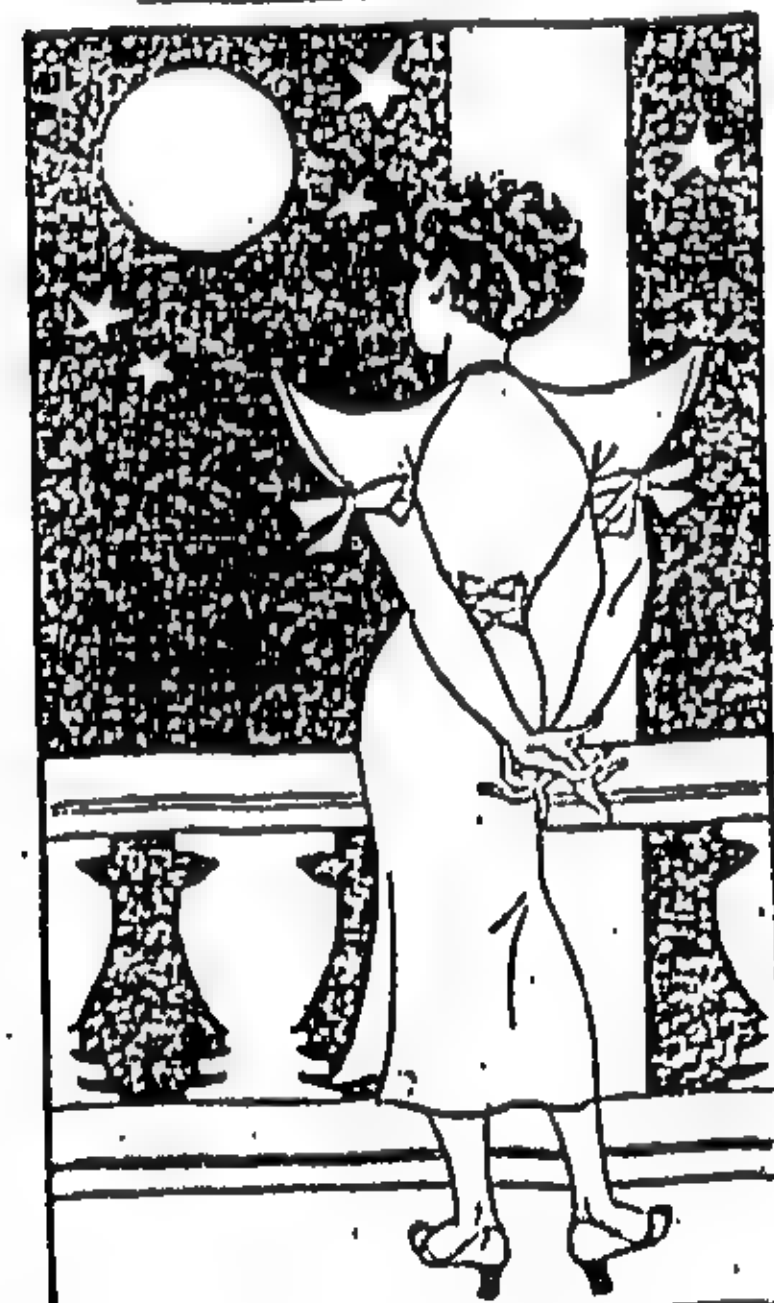

A Second Cardiff. In a recent issue of the Hongkong Daily Press a remark was attributed to the Manager of the Kowloon-Canton Railway to the effect that Hongkong was not a sea side resort and that consequent on the development of the coal mining industry in Canton in the near future, Hongkong would become a second Cardiff. Assuming that report to be correct we submit that that remark is entirely irrelevant to the subject under review. As a matter of port development the future storage of coal will naturally receive due attention, but we feel confident that for storing coal the area in question would not be considered. Also, that coal from Canton would be water borne.

In fine, it has been our endeavour to treat this important matter with all possible reserve; but we would most respectfully impress upon you that the interested parties are eagerly and patiently awaiting news of the Government's intentions, sincerely entertaining the hope that therein they will not be disappointed.

Colonial Secretary's Reply. Mr. Tarrant, in reply, said that the matter of the coal dump would be laid before H. E. the Governor for further investigation at an early date.

Hung Hom Bay, on which the railway land in question abutted, had been definitely earmarked for Port development; and in that connexion two technical reports had been made and officially printed some years ago. This Port development, and the land and sea frontage in question, would be very carefully watched by the Government.

The matter of the coal-dump, therefore, is now dependent on the decision of H.E. the Governor.

"LEAGUE OF BRITISH WHITES"

Not while local Britons still retain the gift of laughter is Major Cassel likely to make headway in the organisation of his so-called League of British Whites. Mumbo-jumbo and the secret society atmosphere may meet with some response in large boys who will never grow up and there is much in the astonishing outline of Major Cassel's aims and objectives which might commend itself to the immature. But we trust and believe that Hongkong is definitely the wrong place in which to attempt to implant the narrow aggressive type of Nationalism which the promoter of the organisation preaches. For this reason, the project scarcely warrants the complement of serious treatment. There are, however, features of the programme warranting brief examination in view of certain statements made in the course of the published interview.

"We believe that the Royal Family should be held in such respect that the prestige of the monarchy is maintained. We are unwavering supporters of the monarchy since it is the one element in the present system of government that realises the Fascist ideal of 'Government above party, class or section.' We should consider ourselves justified in using force against any unpatriotic movement. The reason for the existence of our organisation is to uphold the monarchy, against all subversive movements and to bring about a reform in our system of government. We hold that the present system of government needs reforming because it is failing to maintain the greatness and the happiness of the British people. Our attitude towards the non-British sections of the Empire's population is that the interests of the British nation come first and the other Empire peoples should have rights proportionate to their loyalty and usefulness to the British nation."

This reads amazingly like a resume of the gallant Major's announcements, but is nothing of the kind. It consists of an extract from the officially authorised statement of policy of the British Fascists. Yet Major Cassel declares that the League of British Whites is "most certainly not" to be run on Fascist or Nazi lines. Again, we may ask, what is this paltry glorification of the "White Briton" but, a translation of Herr Hitler's cult of the super-humanity of the Nordic Race? Everyone will sympathise with properly conducted efforts to find jobs for unemployed Britons and few would uphold Hongkong's governmental system as ideal. But Fascism merely means the substitution of a benevolent type of autocracy by something far more alarming. If Fascism and a puerile spirit of nationalism is the alternative, we have no hesitation in our choice.

NOTES OF THE DAY

The world hopes for a reduction of tariffs are rapidly disappearing. The key position is that of the United States, and there the economic omens do not look too favourable. President Roosevelt, armed with exceptional powers, is embarking upon great projects of economic re-organization. There are to be many more controls than before over the freedom of industrial enterprises. These may be good or bad, but all history suggests that their effect will be to raise the costs of American industrial production. And that will make strongly for raising the tariff further, or at all events against lowering it.

AMERICA'S KEY POSITION

Now just as the world slump began with the American slump, so it is probably true that the restoration of the United States to economic health must condition the restoration of the world. But how can the United States become healthy again, until her regular exports—her cotton and tobacco and cereals and canned goods, not to mention her motor-cars and oil-stoves and cash-registers—can once more be exported freely at good prices? And how can they ever be, until foreign nations can pay freely for them in goods? And how can payment in goods be made unless the American tariff comes down?

ENTANGLEMENTS

That is, with the Debt question, the crux of the economic situation. One may assume that it is not hidden from Mr. Roosevelt. But there is daily evidence that it is ignored by masses of his fellow-countrymen, and we must do nothing that would prevent him from carrying them with him. Unfortunately, as we have just indicated, there is much danger of his preventing himself. The whole problem is so tangled, wheels within wheels, that it is difficult for him to gratify popular demand at one point without finding that he has blocked progress at others.

MARTIANS ANNIHILATED?

From the report of the astronomers working in the Mount Wilson Observatory, regarding the small percentage of oxygen contained in the atmosphere of Mars, the conclusion has been drawn that life cannot exist on this nearest of planetary bodies. Thus by a single stroke are we earthquake mortals deprived of a source of intimacy that has grown up between us and our Martian neighbours. Martians henceforth will cease to exist, even in the imagination. No longer can we draw our conclusions regarding the frivolities of mankind by comparison with visitors from Mars. All because the astronomers say there is too little oxygen there to support life. But this conclusion is based upon the theory that existence is limited to creatures having a similar physical structure to that of inhabitants of the earth; and, consequently, they must be similarly sustained by a proper oxygen content of the atmosphere. Is this a fair conclusion? May not other forms of life exist, even as far advanced in the scale of existence as we believe humans to be, forms that would thrive upon even 1 per cent of oxygen, or upon none at all? Such a conclusion denies the possibility that life may find expression except under the highly restricted conditions which surround earth denizens.

SAME CLOTHING AS PRISONERS.
After being committed, I was taken to the "Reception Room" of Victoria Gaol, again questioned and searched, the same articles of wearing apparel taken from me, and handed a suit of khaki clothing and a shirt all several sizes too small for me. Into these I had to change, and my own clothing I handed to the warder to be locked up.

BEROLINA
In the "Berolina" statue of the Alexanderplatz, Berlin has a sculptural work of art no less errant than has been the equally famous "Eros" of Piccadilly Circus in London. Eros, after long absence, is back in his place. Berolina is still in her boudoir in a Berlin suburb making preparations to resume once more her fashionable way. It is six years since a huge lorry, ten metres in length, eloped with her in the dead of night from the Alexanderplatz. A similarly ponderous chariot has been chartered for her nocturnal return, for Berolina is no ordinary dame. She is many times life-size and of such magnificent build that only when traffic is at its lowest can enough space be found in the streets for her procession to pass. Eros is an elf beside Berolina. But his absence from his post was from a similar cause. The reason in both cases has been the prolonged but now completed underground railway excavations where they stood.

HOUSE OF DETENTION IS NOTHING BUT A GAOL

STARTLING DISCLOSURES OF HONGKONG "POOR HOUSE"

In this startling expose of conditions and treatment in the Hongkong House of Detention, an inmate describes his experiences of a week-end spent in the Institution.

(Contributed)

MANY is the time you have read in your morning paper that another Briton has reached the end of his resources, and has been committed to the House of Detention.

How many of Hongkong British residents give this a second thought? Not one in a hundred, I warrant.

In the following article I will endeavour to explain to you in simple language what actually happens to a man after he has given himself up. First of all he is questioned by the Police authorities with regard to his length of residence in the Colony, the positions he has held, and the reasons for losing same.

These questions answered to the satisfaction of the Police he is searched, and the following articles of wearing apparel are taken from him and locked up; braces, belt, shoes, laces, necktie, studs and cuff-links. I presume this precaution is taken to guard against the possibility of committing suicide. As it is mostly late in the day when men give themselves up, they invariably spend one night in the "side room." This is a room set aside for this purpose at Police Headquarters.

BED FULL OF BUGS.

The room is furnished with two beds, a table and chair. On the occasion of which I am writing there were three occupants of this room; however, this made very little difference as regards who would sleep on the two beds, the mattresses being full of bugs. We all decided to sleep on the floor.

Smoking is prohibited but a friendly officer of the law gave me cigarettes, and I smoked them. The following morning I was taken before the Magistrate and charged as a vagrant, and committed to the House of Detention.

The Magistrate inquired of the prosecuting officer if there was any chance of my being sent Home. The reply was "Yes, later on." But I was told by the same police officer that the Government were not prepared to spend any money on passages for detainees; this being confirmed by the fact that only two weeks since one Australian and one Canadian were put aboard a certain steamer to work as "mess boys" on the trip home, this after the two gentlemen concerned had spent from three to four months in the "House."

SUNDAY'S "MENU."
The allotted half an hour is up; you are searched, and now arrivals warned that if they are caught trying to smuggle any cigarettes etc. into their cell their leave will be stopped, and a second attempt will mean a period on "bread and water."

Arriving back in the cell the last meal of the day is served. This consists of a mug of cocoa and a half a pound of bread. On Sunday's cheese is added to the "menu." Five o'clock is locking up time when all cells are doubly locked for the night, not to be opened again on any pretext until 8 a.m. the following morning. All lights are extinguished at 8 o'clock.

The following day, being Saturday, the detainees are taken to their cells for the greater part of the day. The same applies to Sunday and holidays; no permission is granted for leave on these days, as I found out to my regret later.

Breakfast over (this meal was exactly the same as the two previous (Continued on Page 9.)

The Very Idea!

RUNNING OUR HEAD INTO A NEWS

By Ed. Kelly, Sob. Sister
And ply that poor reporter, As on the floor he lay, For the last he heard, Were the Great man's words, "I have nothing at all to say."

WITH apologies to O. Henry, or Kipling, or whoever it was wrote it.

All of which prompts the question "Do newspaper reporters eat their young?"

And if not, should they be told the facts of life?

Yesterday afternoon, after that interview with the I.G.P., we decided to set the Editor's mind at rest by interviewing all the other great men of Hongkong on the subject.

Our first victim was none other than the celebrated Mr. Edward Kelly, well-known journalist and man about town.

"Should reporters be told the facts of life?" he mused in answer to our question. "Yes, I think so. Frankness will never hurt anyone, and they should be warned of the lurking dangers of the Far East. How many reporters, unsophisticated and just out from Home, have ruined their whole career simply through ignorance. They should not be allowed to go and interview senior Government officials without a hint of the danger that lies before them."

We bowed to Mr. Kelly and left to collect other opinions. Here are a few of them:

Mr. Woolf-Woolf: "Decidedly not! It is a dangerous precedent to tell newspaper reporters too much. Why, I have known them to actually publish things I have told them before today. Police don't ask me any further questions now. I am too PC."

Dr. A. B. White: "g'm, Director of the Medical Services. Many newspaper reporters have been ruined for life by being told too much. When I know that my patient is connected with a newspaper, I tell him nothing. Old fashioned remedies are the best. Where newspaper reporters are concerned I am a cynic."

The Hon. Dr. K'ewell: Every newspaper reporter should be fully aware of the risks he has to take. The shameful secretaries, half-hints and veiled allusions of the Victorian era should be ruthlessly swept away. Let us be frank and fearless. You can news this statement as you think fit."

Mr. H. T. ("Hot Time") Brinks: Superintendent of the Fire Brigade: "Newspapermen should not play with fire, otherwise they will be burnt."

The President of the Ladies Section of the Hongkong Golf Club: "All Bunkerm! Of course, they should be told. Let us treat them the fair way. They've got to earn their bread and butter, and they're only doing their duties."

Mr. L. S. Green: Ill. Secretary of the Hongkong Cricket Club: "Is that cricket? The least the newspaper reporters know about body line the better. When I was a young man..."

Mrs. Edward Kelly: "Hrrrrumph! If you'd stay at home and mind the baby, you shiftless, worthless, good-for-nothing, loafing fool, you'd do more good for yourself."

THAT HONGKONG BEER

We are grievously disappointed. We got all hot and bothered this morning, looking forward to the official opening of the Hongkong Brewery this afternoon, when we suddenly discovered that it isn't until next Wednesday.

We felt so sick with disappointment that we had to drink a glass of water.

ANOTHER DICTATORSHIP

Are you failing to get your fair share of other people's money? Have you enemies that you can't get even with? Do you blow the froth off your beer before you drink it?

Then join the Kelly Night Shirts, with which are amalgamated the Steel Helmets and Storm Troopers.

Face the Facts! This means YOU!

The Night Shirts stand for the immediate abolition of Shroffs and Small Debt courts, also twelve o'clock closing of Cabarets and the socialisation of beer.

Complete control of the Colony will be taken over by Major Cassel and Edward Kelly, assisted by Commissioners chosen from Night Shirts. Commissioners will be allowed to tack a K on to their night shirts.

Join up at once. Remember, a night shirt is more comfortable than a Shroud, and blood is stickier than water. Nibble your nightly whisky and soda with a SHIRT. APPLY

AUSTRO-GERMAN TENSION

EASIER ATMOSPHERE DEVELOPS

HITLER ASSURANCES

LONDON, AUG. 8.
THERE IS NOW EVERY HOPE THAT THE AUSTRO-GERMAN TENSION WILL SHORTLY BE LIQUIDATED.

It is learned that the German Government has assured Italy that efforts will be made to prevent a recurrence of the incidents which have given rise to protests.

In spite of the nature of the German Reply to the Franco-British demarche, the British view is that the reply does not affect the assurances given to Italy.

The Austrian Charge D'Affaires in London, Herr Wimmer, called at the Foreign Office this afternoon and was informed that His Majesty's Government had been acquainted by the Italian Government on Sunday, August 6th, that the German Government had given assurances to the Italian Government that they would do their best to prevent the incursion of aeroplanes from Germany over Austrian Territory and to check propaganda against the Austrian Government from German broadcast stations by tightening censorship.

TERRORISM.

The German Government had also expressed disapproval of the acts of terrorism committed against the Austrian Government although they submitted that they could not be held responsible for them.

In these circumstances the object immediately desired by His Majesty's Government had been attained and the British Charge D'Affaires in Berlin, Mr. Basil Newton, so informed the German Government yesterday at the same time recording the representations which he would otherwise have made.

Herr Wimmer was told that in view of the assurances given by the German Government the British Government hoped that there would be no repetition of these incidents.—British Wireless.

LOAN TO AUSTRIA

British Prospectus Issued

The prospectus for the Austrian Government International guaranteed loan 1933/34 has now been published. The issue amounting to £4,514,200, is in three per cent. guarantee sterling bonds, the price of issue being 99 per cent. guaranteed as to principal and interest by His Majesty's Government under the provisions of the Austrian loan guarantee act 1933.

Interest will be payable half yearly on January 1 and July 1. The first coupon will be for £1.1 per cent. and will be payable on January 1, 1934.

The list of applications will be opened and closed on Thursday.—British Wireless.

WELFARE WORK IN DELHI

WORKERS GIVEN A NICE HOLIDAY

Bombay.
A new feature in the Welfare Work of the Delhi Cloth Mills was introduced when a Special Excursion Train chartered by the Managing Agents set out on a holiday tour from Delhi to Ajmer. About 500 workers Hindu and Muslims left Delhi in a train affording residential accommodation to the holiday crowd, special arrangements having been made for food, water-supply and general service. The scheme was all inclusive because in addition to the amenities of train travel, motor transport was provided for sight-seeing at the places visited. The visitors were conducted in orderly groups accompanied by guides and patrols who showed them round. Besides the comfort and amenities of the journey, the party had several recreations to brighten the excursion. A musician had been engaged to entertain the men.

So striking has been the success that another tour will shortly be undertaken which is said to act as a tonic to the workmen.—Reuters.

DEATH.

ORVALHO.—On August 9, 1933, at his residence, No. 7, Austin Avenue, Kowloon, Maria Gomes de Carvalho, 60 years of age, died at 8.30 p.m. of a heart attack. The funeral will take place on Monday, August 13, at 10.30 a.m. from the mortuary, 11, Canton Road, Kowloon.

GLASGOW'S LOSS

DEATH OF SIR M. W. MONTGOMERY

FORMER PROVOST OF THE CITY

(Our Own Correspondent).

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Message Ordinance, 1931. Received, Aug. 9, 1.19 p.m.)

London, Aug. 8.
The death is announced at the age of 74 of Sir Henry Matthew Montgomery, former Lord Provost of Glasgow and Lord Lieutenant of the County and the City of Glasgow.

The son of Daniel Montgomery, a cork merchant, the late Sir Henry was created a Knight in 1926. He was a Justice of the Peace for the County and the City of Glasgow, and a member of the Corporation of Glasgow from 1920 to 1926. He held the office of Magistrate for three years, and was the convener of several important committees of the Corporation, including Gas and Electricity.

He was prominently associated with the Trades House of Glasgow, held the office of Deacon of the Incorporation of Bonnet-makers and Dyers in 1924 and was Master of the Star and Trades House Masonic Lodges.

For 32 years he was Speaker of the Glasgow Southern Parliamentary Debating Association and was also Royal Danish Consul at Glasgow.

AN UNREGISTERED PRACTITIONER

FINED FOR CARRYING ON BUSINESS

Wong Pak Chai, of 180, Des Voeux Road Central, was summoned before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning for professing to practice medicine on July 14 without being a registered medical practitioner and for publishing his name as a doctor in the Wah Kiu Yat Po newspaper.

Mr. C. Y. Kwan appeared for the defence and pleaded guilty to the first charge, but denied the second.

Detective Inspector Murphy said both summonses were based on the same advertisement.

The magistrate withdrew the second charge.

Mr. Kwan said that with regard to the summons to which he had pleaded guilty he would ask his Worship to view the case as leniently as possible. No doubt, the Police officer in charge of the case, who had been to his client's premises, would testify that everything found was Chinese, pure and simple, with the exception of an iron bedstead, which one could not connect with the practice of medicine in a modern scientific method. He did not actually practise European medicine, Mr. Kwan said he pleaded guilty because of the wording in the ordinance.

Inspector Murphy said that when he visited the premises he did not have a professional man with him. The place was like a dispensary and had bottles with the labels "Wong Pak Chai." There was also a stretcher for patients.

Mr. Schofield—Did he appear to be using herbal treatment?

Insp. Murphy replied all the medicines appeared to be liquid.

On the first charge a fine of $100 was imposed.

OIL DEALERS IN COURT

ALLEGED ILLEGAL PETROL STORING

Action taken by Mr. J. C. FitzHenry, Deputy Superintendent and Inspection Officer of the Fire Brigade, resulted in the managers of several firms and companies appearing before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, for breach of the dangerous goods Ordinance.

The summonses will all be heard on Friday afternoon, August 18. In all there are twelve summonses against the managers of four firms, Mr. C. Y. Kwan and Mr. M. W. Lo appeared to-day for these firms.

Chan Yip-sang, the manager of the Ho Sang Company, King's Building, Connaught Road, Central, was summoned for storing 70 tons of petroleum distillate without a licence on a cargo junk lying off Cheung Sha Wan, and also for storing 200 tons of petroleum distillate on another cargo junk also off Cheung Sha Wan.

Mr. C. Y. Kwan, represented the defendant, and pleaded not guilty. Mr. M. W. Lo, of Messrs. Lo and Lo, represented Mr. Foo Hong-tak, the general manager of the Associated Petroleum Company, 8A, Des Voeux Road, Central. Eight summonses were preferred against defendant, all in connection with storing cargo on junks off Cheung Sha Wan.

The total amount of petroleum distillate and other inflammable liquids alleged to have been stored on the junk was 1,855 gallons.

Mr. H. S. Chen, manager of the South China Oil Refining and Enterprise Company, 63-65 Des Voeux Road, Central, was summoned in respect of storing 60 tons of petroleum distillate on a junk off Cheung Sha Wan, and Mr. K. S. Lee, manager of the China Supply Corporation, 16 Queen's Road, General, was summoned in respect of 400 tons of petroleum distillate.

Both defendants were also represented by Mr. M. W. Lo.

ENGLISHMAN FREED BY REPUBLIC

EFFECT OF SPAIN'S AMNESTY

Barcelona.
A girl's memory for faces led to the arrest of an Englishman here—but the advent of the Republic has set him free again.

The girl was a jeweller's daughter. She saw a man pass by in the street—and said that she recognized him as the person who stole £9,000 worth of jewelry from her father's shop in 1928.

He was arrested, identified as an Englishman, and charged with having "disappeared with the said jewels." It is said that he vanished on the way to a bank to cash a cheque—accompanied by an assistant from the shop.

But now he has been released—his alleged crime being within the scope of the general amnesty accorded on the advent of the Republic in 1931.—Reuters.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

HE IS OFF THE WISEST MAN WHO IS NOT WISE AT ALL.—Wordsworth.

The P. and O. s.s. "Rajputana" left Shanghai for this Port on the 8th instant at 6 p.m. and is due here on the 11th instant at about 7 a.m.

Lo Shing, unemployed, charged before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, with the larceny of a radiator cap, valued at $80, from a private motor car in Leighton Hill Road, was fined $50 or six weeks' hard labour. The complainant was Mr. A. B. Wong.

Four cases of typhoid, one imported, were reported to the local health authorities during the holidays.

A motor cyclist collided with a 15-year-old girl named Chu Shi-wai in Nathan Road yesterday, causing injuries which resulted in her admission to hospital.

It is understood that the "Dog's Home" in Kowloon is to be moved from its present location at Waterloo Road, and that a site near Kowloon City has been selected as the most suitable for the new position.

HORDE OF OPIUM OFFENDERS

YOUTH WHO DID NOT CARE—"TWO PINS"

SHANTUNG MEN A NUISANCE

Shantung men are bringing heroin pills into the Colony but the sellers are very difficult to catch, according to Revenue Officer A. W. Grimmitt, who prosecuted a Chinese before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Magistracy this morning, for possession of a small quantity of opium, possession of 880 heroin pills and running an opium divan at 229 Hollywood Road.

The first charge, relating to the opium, was withdrawn, the defendant pleading guilty to the second and third offences. He was fined $880 or four months, and $100 or five weeks, consecutively.

Another man arrested on the premises admitted the possession of 1,600 heroin pills and was fined $1,600 or six months.

Arrested by an Indian Sergeant of the guard aboard the river steamer Kinshan, a Chinese was found to have 54 tins of raw opium strapped to his legs with rubber bands. He was fined $5,000 or twelve months' hard labour.

A Chinese youth, with a smiling face, frankly admitted being the keeper of a divan at 3, Tai Ping Shan.

Six strokes was ordered. R. O. Grimmitt—He's another hard case. He'll say "yes" to anything. I told him last night he would get strokes but he told me he did not care two pins.

Five smokers who were in the divan at the time of the raid, were fined $25 or three weeks each, while a woman, with a baby strapped to her back, was fined $50 for aiding and abetting the youth.

HOTEL WRECKED BY WOMAN.

SIX DEAD AND OVER 50 INJURED.

Prague, Aug. 1.
The suicide of a Czech woman by the explosion of a bomb was apparently the cause of the extraordinary disaster at Bruenn, the capital of Moravia, when the four-storey Hotel de l'Europe was wrecked. Three guests are known to be dead and 57 injured.

Further details are now available of the terrible explosion at the Hotel de l'Europe, as a result of which there are at least six dead and over 50 injured. One section of the building in which the hotel was situated was completely destroyed by the explosion, while the other section was seriously damaged. The building has been split into two parts.

VIOLENT EXPLOSION.

Three passers-by were buried under falling stones and a worker who happened to pass the scene was extricated from the debris in a critical condition and died on the way to hospital. Seven others who were seriously injured have been sent to hospital and only a few are likely to survive. Thirty-two persons and 11 firemen were slightly injured.

The explosion was so violent that a number of the opposite dwellings were damaged and rescue parties discovered in them human bones and traces of blood. The entire traffic has been suspended in one of the main thoroughfares, and it now threatens to collapse completely. Happily there were only a few guests present when the explosion occurred. Nothing is known yet of the cause of the disaster. Apparently only one guest and with his wife and child were killed, but their bodies have not yet been recovered.—Aneta-Trans-Ocean.

HIDING BEHIND A CURTAIN

OUT OF WORK CAUGHT ON PREMISES

Lam Wing, unemployed, was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour by Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning on a charge of having been found in 178, Queen's Road, East, 1st floor, for an unlawful purpose.

Chan Shuet, living in a cubicle on the floor, found the defendant hiding behind a curtain, and when she pulled it aside he dashed out into the street—but was arrested by a tailor.

Defendant pleaded that he had gone there to look for a friend, Lam Kau, but could not find him.

CHINESE EDITORS SUMMONED

INSERTING INDECENT ADVERTISEMENTS

Summonses in respect of allegedly indecent advertising in Chinese newspapers led to the editors of the Wah Kiu Yat Po, the Tin Nam Yat Po and the Tam Wan Yat Po appearing before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, and being fined $10 each.

The summonses specified that the defendants had inserted advertisements relating to venereal diseases.

Mr. F. H. Loseby appeared for Pun Yat-yu, the editor of the Wah Kiu Yat Po, while the other two defendants were unrepresented.

Mr. Loseby said that he was going to plead guilty, and in extenuation said that the prosecution was brought in respect of an advertisement in his client's newspaper referring to "white poison," which referred to a venereal disease.

DEAD LETTER.

Under the newspaper ordinance, said Mr. Loseby, no advertisements of an indecent character could appear anywhere, and advertisements referring to venereal diseases could be said to be indecent. It was impossible for him not to say that these advertisements were not indecent within the meaning of the ordinance.

but on the question of penalty, he could say that this ordinance was a dead letter. He suggested that a caution would meet the case, and if the police and the S. C. A. demanded that these advertisements should not appear, they would not.

Mr. Schofield inquired of Sub-Inspector Murphy as to why this sudden action had been taken, and the officer replied that a member of the public had sent the papers to the police requesting that advertisements of this kind should not appear.

CLUB EXPELS MEMBER

Mr. J. C. McIlwraith, a solicitor, of Carlisle-road, Hamilton, Lanarkshire, was expelled from the Hamilton Golf Club, at a meeting of the members for conduct which, it was alleged, was unsportsmanlike and obnoxious to the majority of the members. The decision was carried by 92 votes to 25.

A special meeting was summoned on a petition of members who were dissatisfied with the action of Mr. McIlwraith in going to court to settle a difference between him and the council of the club. The first public intimation of this controversy was made when an action by Mr. McIlwraith against the club was called at Hamilton Sheriff Court.

APPEAL TO SHERIFF.
Mr. McIlwraith asked the sheriff to restrain the council of the club from playing off the second and succeeding rounds of the Shanks Cup competition on the grounds that he (Mr. McIlwraith), having been a successful competitor in the first round, had been unreasonably debarré from playing in the second and succeeding rounds.

Sheriff Brown refused to grant the injunction, and the competition was completed.

It was argued by Mr. P. E. Scuttan, solicitor and secretary of the club, that the reason why Mr. McIlwraith was not allowed to play was because he had not paid his annual subscription which was due in December, and, according to rule, anyone who had not paid by January, 1933, was debarré from playing in the competition.

Mr. McIlwraith's solicitor argued that according to the rules of the club, Mr. McIlwraith was entitled to take part in the second and succeeding rounds of the competition, having been allowed to play in the first round.

FULL PROGRAMME OF FIRST LOCAL SURFBOARD REGATTA

REPULSE BAY, THE VENUE IS IDEAL FOR SURFBOARD PADDLING

(By "Surfer")

THE programme for the first annual Surfboard Regatta of Hongkong which is to take place this month, has now been arranged.

THE event is sponsored by Mr. Eric Friman, who, in collaboration with other workers has drawn-up the following schedule.

1. Men's Open Half Miles.
2. Ladies Open 100 yards Dash.
3. Boys (16 and under) 100 yards Dash.
4. Men's Open 10 yards Dash.
5. Men's (over 30 years) 100 yards Dash.
6. Ladies 440 yards Relay.
- (First four to finish in the 100 yards event. They will race against time to establish a local record)
7. Men's 440 yards Relay (Open Team Race).

A clever silhouette study of surfboard riding showing that it is possible for more than one rider to be on the board at the same time.

To the eye of the surfboard enthusiast there isn't a better spot to hold a race than in Hongkong. Upon mentioning the fact to a few who are vaguely familiar with the sport, I have been ridiculed, laughed at and all but refused the chance to explain just what a surfboard race is.

In Honolulu all of the championship paddling races are held on the smooth waters of the Ali Wai Canal. In America the surfmen have to put up with whatever Old Man Weather dishes out to them on the day of the race. I have seen the Pacific Coast Championships held at Santa Monica, California, in waters few would undertake to swim in. All of this calls for excellent training, for when one enters one of these races the type of surfboard used and the way one races is largely decided upon by Father Neptune. One may be paddling in lake-smooth water or the choppy angry waves that call for plenty of reserve and a brave spirit.

TWO KINDS OF RACES.

There are essentially two kinds of surfboard races. First the original which the Hawaiians sponsored in days long gone by. It starts from shore where the entrants paddle their boards out and around a designated spot and back through the line of waves. This race can be packed with all sorts of thrills and excitement. I have seen a last-placed man catch a wave when the race was all but over, and ride it so well as to pass the leader who was not so fortunate to be in a position to catch one himself, when he paddled into the vicinity of the surf, although he was by some two or three hundred feet the leader in the race at that time.

This kind of a race has always been a drawing card. For once the competitors reach the surf it is often anybody's race.

The second kind of a race is a straight paddling affair over a measured course. The American A.A.U. sponsors six regular events of this sort for men and women. The distances being the same each year all have championship times behind them, as a consequence they are all well established and recognized events. Out of these six events I know of no choice for popularity. Of course everybody has their favourite competitor in most races, but to choose one race as being the best of all depends largely on the competitors themselves.

At nearly every regatta there are novice races for boys and girls, as well as a special event for men over thirty years of age. The times made recently by some of the youngsters certainly indicate that the championship records of to-day are in danger of being erased from their present stable looking position. Only last month a thirteen year old boy by the name of Paul Mauka, of Honolulu, paddled the 100 yard boys' race to win in the excellent time of 37.4/5 seconds.

EIGHTEEN THREE

LEICESTER OUTPLAYED
BUT FINALLY WIN

Magnificent Bowling By Charlie Parker

London, Aug. 8.

County cricket batsmen during the last three days found run-getting as easy as stripping a cherry tree of its fruit. Some extraordinary scoring resulted.

Here are a few illuminating statistics:

Nine matches, including the West Indies encounter with Glamorgan produced 9,175 runs for 258 wickets—and average of nearly 40 run per wicket.

In each of four matches over 1,000 runs were scored. Eighteen batsmen reached three figure scores. Two obtained double centuries.

Although Somerset scored 480 runs in two innings Charlie Parker of Gloucester took 12 of their wickets for 169 runs.

FINE RECOVERY.

The upshot of this phenomenal scoring was four games left drawn. Surrey, Kent, Lancashire and Essex garnered first innings points, whilst the maximum fell to Sussex, Gloucester, Leicestershire and Derby.

Among the several outstanding features of the play was the brilliant recovery by Worcester against Essex, who, after following on 250 runs in arrears, easily saved the game.

The honours went to the Nawab of Patnaudi and C.F. Walters, the Test player. They made such light work of the Essex attack after a mediocre display in the first innings, that when stumps were drawn Worcester had put on 472 for 3. Patnaudi helped himself to 231 and was undefeated, and Walters aided with 134.

YORKSHIRE HELD.

Lancashire brought Yorkshire's succession of big successes to an abrupt stop by winning on the first innings. To this they were indebted to Hopwood and Hawkwood, whose centuries made possible the total of 421 in response to Yorkshire's 236. But everything else was capped by Leicestershire's sensational victory over Northants.

No less than 130 in arrears on the first innings, and with Northants declaring closed their second knock at 152-7, Leicestershire, for three parts of the game outplayed. But they batted brilliantly for a fourth time on a wearing wicket, and snatched an almost impossible victory by scoring 283 for the loss of six wickets.

DR. C. J. PAGLAR'S APPEAL

CHIEF JUSTICE RESERVES JUDGMENT

The Chief Justice of the F.M.S., Sir Walter Huggard, reserved judgment in the appeal of Dr. C. J. Paglar from the decision of the Medical Council to strike his name off the register on the ground of unprofessional misconduct.

Sir David Galloway sat with His Lordship, as assessor.

Mr. V. D. Knowles, counsel for the appellant, contested the point made by Mr. J. G. Campbell, for the Medical Council, that the Council should be regarded as a domestic tribunal. It was not like a Club the powers of which could be absolute.

Again, the question of good Government did not always enter into Medical Council decisions because some of them concerned acts which were perfectly innocent from the point of view of the public.

"After all," continued Mr. Knowles, "a doctor is not allowed by a Medical Council to advertise a nursing home but if he did, that could not be considered against good Government."

"There is an analogy in my own profession."

Purely Ethical Conduct.

"I well remember a paper being started in London in which descriptions and photos of eminent legal men were published. There was an awful row, I remember, and certain action was taken but those concerned could not be said to have done something contrary to good Government."

The Chief Justice: But, Mr. Knowles, indirectly these rules are introduced to protect the public, are they not?

Mr. Knowles: Some of these matters are purely ethical conduct, I should say.

Mr. Knowles argued further that they were rather inclined to look back on Dr. Paglar's conduct with a suspicion born of after events. At the time, that conduct would have been considered quite innocent.

Conclusively, the evidence, in his opinion, was not sufficient to support a decision on such weight against Dr. Paglar.

U.S. GANGSTER SCANDAL

PROMINENT CHICAGO MEN TO BE TRIED.

Chicago, Aug. 2. The retrial and a further term of imprisonment for the notorious gangster, Al Capone, who is now in gaol at Atlanta for income tax evasion, may be a sequel to a sensational gangster clean-up. The latest endeavour to purge the city of racketeering follows a Grand Jury indictment. Many persons prominent in Chicago business and social circles suspected of extortions and intimidation are likely to be tried. The latest arrests include the well-known lawyer, Shapiro, and others figuring in the indictment are Alderman Nelson, now on holiday in Europe, and Dr. Squires, a university lecturer at present at Pennsylvania. The last named is acting as conciliator in the hosiery strike and is astonished at the indictment.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Business done 1,230,000 shares.

The Wall Street Journal reports:—on yesterday's market: Stock prices closed more than three points up due to rumours that additional inflation is likely. Trading was quiet with automobile and rail stocks the strongest. The grain market opened weak owing to a decline in cotton. Wheat, however, led closing rally and closed steady.

Our New York Office cable:—Stocks: There was greater activity on the upside today which indicates a likelihood of continued advance during the next day or so. Wheat: The market continues to drift and there is a lack of new buying. There was some raising in Canada but too late. An early revival in interest is expected and higher prices should follow. Cotton: Due to a good technical position there was very little liquidation after unexpectedly large crop figures. There was substantial trade buying on decline and up to the close the action of the market was very encouraging.

The Government Cotton Crop Estimate is 12,514,000 Bales Our New York Office cable:—The list is displaying a firmer tone but dullness is likely to continue temporarily. Wheat: Liverpool heavy but our market lacks buying interest and leadership. The market is becoming oversold, cash strong and purchases are advised on further declines. Cotton: There was buying from Liverpool and the trade on opening and some hedge selling from the South, otherwise the market was featureless. The market closes at 11.55 for Government's report and reopens at 12.15. At 11.45 p.m. Market waiting Government Cotton Report and increasing sentiment that early adoption of inflation programme likely.

DUBLIN MOB THREATENS O'DUFFY BLUE-SHIRTS

BATON CHARGE ON CROWDS

LIVELY STREET SCENES LAST NIGHT

DE VALERA ANXIOUS

DUBLIN, AUGUST 9.

STONES, BOOING AND HISsing FROM A CROWD OF OVER FIVE THOUSAND GREETED THE APPEARANCE OF A BAND OF "BLUE-SHIRTS" IN THE STREETS OF DUBLIN THIS EVENING, GIVING A FORETASTE OF THE GROWING HOSTILITY BETWEEN RIVAL POLITICAL FACTIONS.

An ominous spirit is abroad and the crisis is expected to be reached on the big Republican anniversary on Sunday.

Mr. de Valera has prohibited the appearance of General O'Duffy's new National Guard, which appears to be a Fascist organisation, distinguished by the wearing of blue shirts. General O'Duffy expresses determination to carry on and threatens to challenge Mr. de Valera's right of veto in the courts.

Apprehension is growing throughout the city, therefore, in view of the fact that the Irish Republican army are also intending to parade on Sunday and there is the grave possibility of a sanguinary clash when the Blue Shirts parade.

The Blue Shirts were making their first real appearance in public to-day when they arrived at the Metropole ball-room for the first annual dance of the Army Commanders' Association.

CROWDS CHARGED.

The police were compelled to charge the jeering crowds with batons when they ventured further and began to hurl stones at the glass panels and the doors.

Mr. Cosgrave and other ex-Ministers attended the dance, but they were merely paying a formal visit and left soon afterwards.

Mr. Cosgrave urged the police to remain inside the Metropole until the conclusion of the dance, owing to the threatening attitude of the crowd.

FASCIST LEADER.

General O'Duffy, the organiser of the Blue Shirts, was Mr. Cosgrave's chief of the Civic Guard. He was dismissed from the post by Mr. de Valera without being given a reason.

He has since been engaged in establishing the Fascist organisation. Mr. de Valera is very apprehensive about Sunday's possibilities. He has made attempts to prevent either the Blue Shirts or the Irish Republican Army from parading, and, at the same time, has surrounded himself with a picked bodyguard of fifty men, who are staying at the Government Building.—Reuter.

DEEP WATER BAY QUARREL

DEATH OF MAN ON FISHING BOAT

HOKLO DETAINED

Consequent on a fatality at Deep Water Bay, a Hoklo hand employed on a fishing junk is being held by Police for investigations which may lead to a charge of manslaughter.

The crew of the junk had landed on a small island in Deep Water Bay for the preparation of the morning meal. A violent argument occurred while the meal was being consumed.

One man made a remark that the congee (or rice gruel) was rather on the thin side,—a remark which was resented by the man responsible for the preparation of the meal.

Enraged, he is alleged to have kicked the other in the abdomen, causing it to be suspected, a ruptured spleen. The injured man collapsed and died on the spot.

The assailant made an ineffectual attempt to escape, but was trapped on the island, and subsequently tracked down by a party of searchers organised by the other folks of the boat and in which the crews of other craft in the vicinity took part.

General Balbo, leader of the mass Italian flight, passing through enthusiastic crowds.

HUNGHOM BAY PORT DEVELOPMENT

coal may be delivered direct from colliers to storage areas or loaded to craft at the piers or in the basin, thus providing for the more economical handling of this trade. The storage area will accommodate 75,000 tons of coal, which, excluding the stocks of local industry and shipping companies is approximately the normal amount stored in the Colony; and in view of the fact that the percentage of ships using oil fuel is increasing, it is considered that this storage capacity will be sufficient unless the recovery of coal in South China is found to be of commercial importance, in which case additional provision will be required. For this purpose, the report suggests that an area of Tai Wan be reserved, there being no considerations which precluded economic development of the sea bed adjoining the area.

PIPE LINES.

"It is anticipated," the report continues, "that sufficient accommodation can also be provided in this locality to deal with any ores that may be possibly imported by rail. The necessary land should be reserved for railway communication."

"A strip of land 15 feet wide alongside the 60 feet road to the west of the coal storage area is reserved for pipe lines connecting with the oil storage tanks. At the seaward end, the pipes will be laid on a pier 300 feet long and 40 feet wide, having a depth of 36 feet of water alongside."

This pier together with a dolphin provides berthing accommodation for two oil tankers, which may discharge the oil fuel direct to the storage tanks. The proximity and elevation of the latter should admit of the satisfactory oil fuel bunkering of vessels alongside berths at Hunghom Bay or Kowloon Point.

WALL CONSTRUCTION.

"It is recommended that all the quay walls in this scheme be constructed in blockwork with ashlar-faced masonry, super structure. It will be found possible by dredging to found portions of the quay walls upon natural ground and where hard ground is not obtained at suitable depths to be reached by the blockwork, the walls should be founded on pellmell rubble mounds deposited in trenches dredged to depths at which suitable foundations do exist. A pitched slope superstructure founded on a rubble mound brought to the level of low water will protect the south side of the coal depot and the frontage adjoining jetty No. 4."

COST OF RECLAMATION.

In regard to the three piers and dolphin, it is proposed to carry out their construction in reinforced concrete. Groups of steel piles encased in concrete and suitably braced above low water level will carry an ordinary type reinforced concrete docking. Selected filling material should be used to fill in the spaces between the walls of the jetties and also behind all other quay walls for a distance of about 250 feet where the widths will allow. The remaining areas of reclamation may be filled in with material dredged in connexion with the carrying out of the scheme, the surplus being deposited within the areas of proposed further reclamation at Shamshuipo.

Having regard to the development of the reclaimed areas, careful consideration will require to be given to the question of lower initial cost of reclamation by the deposition of dredged material against the higher initial cost of more suitable filling.

THE COST.

(A) Coal Depot, etc. The construction of the coal depot including provision for berthing oil tankers may be proceeded with at any time independent of the carrying out of the rest of the scheme. The estimated cost of the works involved, including ten per cent. for contingencies, is as follows:

Reclamation, including protective works on the south and west sides	$255,000
Formation of basin by dredging and including cost of constructing quay walls	$735,000

NEW WHARFAGE.

(b) Wharfage adjoining Holt's Wharf.

The construction of the wharfage and area of reclamation and to the north of Holt's Wharf may be carried out at any time independent of the carrying out of the rest of the scheme. The estimated cost of the works involved, including 10 per cent. for contingencies, is as follows:

Quay Wall	$2,255,000
Reclamation	$190,000
Temporary protective works, the cost of which will be saved if the wharfage is carried out simultaneously with the adjoining portion of the scheme	$85,000
Dredging outside line of wall	$25,000
	$2,555,000

"The 1,200 feet length of quay wall to the south area of reclamation adjoining the wharfage above described, together with the construction of the back area of reclamation and the 100 feet road may be proceeded with at any time independent of the rest of the scheme. The construction of jetty No. 1 should not be undertaken until work on the quay wall to the southern area of reclamation is well in hand. This jetty may be carried out in two instalments, the first section providing berthing of 1,250 feet on its outer side and 1,205 on its inner side for the use of steamers and junks respectively. The second section providing 1,650 feet length of steamer berthing may be commenced simultaneously with or subsequent to the carrying out of the first section."

QUAY WALLS.

The estimated cost of these works, including 10 per cent for contingencies, is given in the report as follows:—

(c) Quay Walls and South Area of Reclamation	$1,475,000
Reclamation of areas to be used in connexion with wharfage	$320,000
Temporary Protective Works, the cost of which will be saved if this wharfage is carried out simultaneously with the adjoining portions of the scheme	$110,000
	$1,905,000

Reclamation (about 11½ acres) which includes area of the 100 feet roadway and temporary protective works	$280,000
Jetty No. 1	$2,345,000

(d) First Section.
Quay Wall on outer side for use of steamers	$1,780,000
Filling in connexion with jetty	$210,000
Temporary Protective Works, the cost of which will be saved if the first and second sections were carried out conjointly	$55,000
Quay Wall on inner side for the use of junks	$410,000
	$2,455,000

(e) Second Section.
Quay Walls and Return (including heavy moorings)	$1,010,000
Filling in connexion with jetty	$175,000
	$1,185,000

(f) Dredging.
Outside line of quay wall at south area of reclamation	$110,000
Outside line of wall of jetty No. 1 (first section)	$350,000
Outside line of wall of jetty No. 1 (second section) and Approach Channel	$615,000
	$1,115,000

The report adds that the estimated cost of constructing the above portion of the scheme if carried out continuously, including the cost of dredging, would amount to $9,405,000, for which sum a total length of 4,100 feet of steamer berthing, having depths of 34 feet

Morbid Mania For Prodigality

ACCUSATION AGAINST MME. TETRAZZINI

Rome.

Alleging that she was the prey to a "morbidity for prodigality," Signor Pietro Vernati, the youthful husband of Mme. Louise Tetrazzini, the famous prima donna, has brought an action against his wife to restrain her from selling her house in Rome.

Signor Vernati asked the court to prevent Mme. Tetrazzini from dissipating what was left of her formerly huge fortune.

On behalf of Mme. Tetrazzini it was claimed that when she has "responded to the impulse of her heart" she has done so to help relations.

The court postponed the hearing for a month.

Mme. Tetrazzini became a bride for the second time when she married Vernati in Florence in 1926. She was 55 and he was 26.

She caused a sensation at her wedding by wearing a veil scintillating with jewels from head to foot.

Mme. Tetrazzini obtained a legal separation in Rome in 1928 on a plea of incompatibility.—Reuter.

Exploring The Arctic Ocean

SIXTEEN RUSSIAN AEROPLANES

Moscow.

Sixteen Russian aeroplanes are being sent to the Arctic regions to serve the whole shore of the Northern Arctic Ocean from Murmansk to the Behring Sea.

Part of their job will be to observe the movement of ice throughout the year. These observations will cover a radius of about 350 miles.

The aeroplanes will also carry passengers and make aerial surveys.

The majority of the machines will have shore bases, as experience has shown that exploration from ships is hampered by the difficulty of rising and landing in the leeberg regions.

One of the most important tasks will be the investigation of landing sites and the line of the future "Great Northern Aerial Road."—Reuter.

and 36 feet of water alongside at low water, with the necessary accommodation for junks and other small craft could be provided. Apportioning this sum over the length of steamer berthing, it is equivalent to a unit cost of $2,294 per lineal foot.

SHELVED IN 1925.

In an interview with the Telegraph this afternoon, an official stated that after the scheme was propounded and laid before the Legislative Council a copy was sent to the Home Government. It was despatched on February 12, 1925, but with the advent of the strike in June the whole matter was set aside.

The question had not been reopened by the local Government from 1925 until the present day and it was not certain when the scheme would be proceeded with. It was an ambitious project but when the present world depression lifted it would probably be the starting point for the future development of Hongkong as a port.

When questioned regarding the suggestion made in the Telegraph recently that the land at Blackhead Point be developed as a Lido, the official stated that the Government had not considered the matter. The land in question had always been intended for use in connection with the railway or shipping.

MONEYLENDER'S CLAIM

A SPECIAL JURY EMPANELLED

IMPORTANT CASE OPENS

A claim for over $25,000 against a former colleague for alleged malicious prosecution and false imprisonment was commenced by an Indian registered moneylender at the Supreme Court before the Chief Justice Mr. J. R. Wood, this morning.

The parties are Hazara Singh, a registered money lender, of 8, Morrison Hill Road, and Sawan, also a registered money lender, of 9, Morrison Hill Road.

Singh claims $20,000 special damages, $5,840 money owing to him which he was unable to collect owing to his arrest, $500 solicitors costs, $138 travelling expenses, and costs of the present proceedings.

PARTICULARS OF CLAIM.

The facts alleged in the particulars of claim of the plaintiff are that on November 12 last year he left the Colony for Shanghai and Amoy for the purpose of collecting sums of money due to him, there on promissory notes.

On November 16 defendant falsely and maliciously laid information before Mr. G. S. Kennedy Skipton, police magistrate, and procured a warrant for plaintiff's arrest upon a charge that on November 4 and 10, 1932 he obtained from defendant by false pretences two sums of money, $1,350 and $3,800, with intent to defraud.

ARRESTED ON WARRANT.

Plaintiff was arrested on this warrant at Shanghai on December 3 and was imprisoned there until December 14 when he was brought to Hongkong. Three days later he was formally charged before Mr. Wynne Jones. He was remanded and again imprisoned until December 24 when he was released on bail.

The hearing of the case, occupied January 10, 11, and 13, and defendant by false and malicious representations, procured plaintiff's commitment to the February Criminal Sessions.

FURTHER STATEMENT.

On January 24, through his solicitor, falsely and maliciously preferred before the magistrate a further charge against plaintiff of having, with intent to defraud his creditors, made a transfer of promissory notes to Garga Singh between October 16 and November 13.

This further charge was heard on January 30 and 31 and defendant, by false and malicious representations procured his commitment to the Sessions. Plaintiff was released from bail on or about February 9 and from further custody, the Attorney General having signified his refusal to prosecute the plaintiff on either of the said charges.

By reason of these circumstances plaintiff had been injured in his reputation and suffered pain of body and mind. He had been prevented from attending to his business and had incurred expense to no purpose in going to Amoy and Shanghai. He therefore claimed special damages as set out above.

DEFENCE DENIAL.

The particulars of the defence deny that plaintiff went to Amoy and Shanghai for the purpose stated; deny that defendant falsely and maliciously laid the information which procured the warrant of arrest; deny that he or his solicitor falsely and maliciously preferred the further charge and deny that he procured plaintiff's commitment for trial; and deny that the prosecution referred to was terminated by reason of the refusal of the Attorney General to prosecute plaintiff.

Mr. Duncan McNeill, assisted by Mr. Leo D'Almada, Jnr., instructed by Mr. J. M. D'Almada Romadon, is appearing for plaintiff. Mr. F. C. Jenkin, instructed by Messrs. Lo and Lo represents defendant.

SPECIAL JURY.

A special jury has been convened consisting of Messrs. L. J. Blackburn, foreman, W. C. Ogley, V. Benjamin, A. M. Parker, S. A. Lopes, D. L. Prophet, and W. T. Lee.

After outlining the facts of the case, Mr. McNeill remarked that such actions were rare as few people were wicked or rash enough to take the risk defendant had taken. The consequences were sometimes very serious indeed. There were cases in which a person's reputation could be injured by a paragraph in a newspaper or periodical but there was a very strong difference in such cases and the present. A paragraph was not easily remembered but in an action such as the one they were dealing with, someone would say for years and years afterwards, "Was he not summoned some time ago? People would not lay such serious charges against him without some foundation and I would not trust him further than I could see him."

He submitted that the severest penalties should be inflicted in a case of this kind.

FIVE POINTS.

In order to establish this action, continued Counsel, his client must prove,

- 1, that defendant prosecuted him;
- 2, that the prosecution terminated in his favour;
- 3, that the charges were false;
- 4, that the charges were made by defendant without reasonable or probable cause;
- 5, that the defendant acted maliciously.

The first two could be established by the records and the refusal of the Attorney General to prosecute could, he submitted, be taken as equivalent to the throwing out of an action by a Grand Jury. The plaintiff would say that the charges were absolutely false and that the defendant knew they were false. A person who made charges which he knew were false could not possibly have had a proper motive.

THE INFORMATION.

Dealing with the information laid by defendant and upon which a warrant was issued, Mr. MacNeill said it stated among other things that plaintiff owed him $8,000 odd, and that he borrowed a further $3,800 from defendant just before he left the Colony. During the latter part of October plaintiff transferred his interest in a large number of Promissory Notes made out in his favour by Chinese debtors, to Garga Singh, who was also a registered money lender. Plaintiff then left "as I verily believe" continued the statement, for India, and as he had not told him that he intended to go for a trip, defendant believed that he intended to defraud him and other creditors.

That information, said Counsel, resulted in the issue of a warrant and was the first of the malicious prosecutions. It was true that plaintiff had left the Colony and transferred his interest in Promissory Notes, but it was absolutely false to say that he borrowed money before he left. He did sign a Promissory Note on November 10 for $3,800 but he did not get either money or credit by signing that note.

ALLEGED BORROWING.

Further information was laid by defendant on December 8 that plaintiff borrowed the $3,800 from him for the purpose of carrying on his own business and arranged for the money to be paid back by instalments. Under the impression that plaintiff was still in the money lending business, the loan was granted, but from enquiries that were made defendant said he "verily believed" that plaintiff had disposed of his business by making over his interest in certain Promissory Notes to Garga Singh. Defendant added that he was unable to find a money lender to whom plaintiff had given a power of attorney and came to the conclusion that he had absconded.

Plaintiff would also say that defendant knew this was not so; continued Mr. MacNeill.

"SOUGHT JUDGMENT."

The $3,800 which plaintiff was alleged to have borrowed came to him at a money-lender's auction when he was the highest bidder, and in circumstances which defendant must have known.

When plaintiff left the Colony he owed defendant $3,500 but defendant knew that his investments here were considerably greater than this sum, and also that he had only gone to Amoy. A normal man would not have felt any apprehension at plaintiff's absence, but Sawan for some reason wanted a judgment on the debt and to do this he had to get the debtor to Hongkong. He accordingly made the false statements to the magistrates upon which a warrant was issued.

Plaintiff had made arrangements with a man named Ribeiro in Shanghai, whose promissory note he held, for an early settlement, but before this could be effected he was arrested.

DEBT SETTLED.

On the advice of friends, plaintiff settled his debt to Sawan on or about January 11 by paying $1,750 the real amount of the loan. Evidence would be given that about the same time Sawan asked the magistrates, outside the court, for leave to withdraw his charges of fraud against plaintiff. The court adjourned at this point until the afternoon, Counsel informing the Chief Justice that the case would probably last a few days.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Helen Madison, who holds more world's and Olympic records as a swimmer than any other woman in the history of sport, has an important role in "The Warrior's Husband," Jesse L. Lasky's second production for Fox Film, very shortly to be seen at the King's Theatre.

Miss Madison, who decided to give up her amateur rating "because there's no money in it," has been in Hollywood since the Olympic Games, preparing for a screen career. Her role as the Sergeant in the Julian F. Thompson Broadway success will mark her debut in a full-length production.

Elissa Landi and Ernest Truex are co-starred in "The Warrior's Husband," with Marjorie Rambeau, Helen Ware and Maude Eburne in important supporting roles. Walter Lang directed.

"Smilin' Through"

In "Smilin' Through," her latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which is coming on Sunday to the Queen's Theatre Miss Shearer has a role far removed from those which have taken her along the bypaths which lead away from convention.

Miss Shearer's role in "Smilin' Through" is frankly tinged with sentimental romance. It is completely devoid of that sophistication which marked her characterizations in "Strangers May Kiss," "A Free Soul" and "Strange Interlude."

The story abounds in pathos. Ever since Jane Cowl first presented it on the New York stage, it has served as the model by which sentimentality in drama is measured. "As sweet and poignant as 'Smilin' Through' has come to be a phrase by which critics point their comparisons.

In thus turning to wistful romance, Miss Shearer sheds the "woman of the world" character for the first time since the peach blossom fragrance of "The Student Prince" in the old days of silent films.

In "Smilin' Through" she portrays two different girls whose romantic experiences affect the life of one man at an interval of fifty years. First, as Moynihan Clare, in 1888, she is the betrothed of a young English aristocrat, played by Leslie Howard. Later in 1914, she becomes Kathleen Sheridan, with Fredric March as her lover.

Sidney Franklin directed this M-G-M production. Others in the cast are O. P. Heggie, Ralph Forbes, Beryl

Morcer, David Torrence, Margaret Seddon and Forester Harvey.

"The Animal Kingdom" Ann Harding and Leslie Howard are again co-starred! This time it is RKO-Radio Pictures' adaptation of that delightful Philip Barry play that was last season's stage hit in New York. "The Animal Kingdom" Leslie Howard is playing the part he created on the stage. The same is played by William Gargan, the pugilist butler, and of Ilka Chase as a not-too-bright society woman.

"The Animal Kingdom" showing at the Central Theatre to-day, presents a searching study of modern life. It shows, with almost clinical insight, how man's mistresses do not necessarily live out of wedlock—that many of them are those who present themselves under the title of "respectable wife."

Miss Harding plays the mistress who turns out really to deserve the name of wife. Leslie Howard is, of course, the husband. Myrna Loy plays the seductive wife. Others in the cast, not already mentioned are Neil Hamilton, Henry Stephenson, Leni Stengel and Donald Dillaway.

Edward H. Griffith has directed "The Animal Kingdom" from the script by Horace Jackson. The picture has been beautifully staged and, with four beautiful women in the cast, the background one culture and wealth, the gowns are something to rave about.

"Rain" Music which the audience never hears plays a vital part in Joan Crawford's interpretation of her screen roles.

The star of the United Artists picture, "Rain," now showing at the King's Theatre, with Joan Crawford in the starring role, listens to everything from grand opera and symphonies and crooners and popular airs to help her get in the mood for scenes.

A phonograph operated by an expert who has worked with her for five years and who knows what records to play to fit her moods, is the star's constant companion on the set.

For example, if she was suddenly required to step into a crying scene, she placed back and forth in a record such as "Estrellita," "Moonlight Sonata," "Sylvia" or "The Swan" was played, and the tears began to flow.

For dramatic moods she likes instrumental recordings of Wagnerian operas such as "Tristan and Isolde," "The Flying Dutchman" and "Valhalla," portions of Franz Liszt's "Les Preludes," the Franck Symphony in D Minor, and the music of Grieg. When she has light, happy scenes to enact, she is fond of music from "The Merry Widow" and selections by Victor Herbert and Franz Lehár.

"Reunion in Vienna"

With John Barrymore and Miss Diana Wynyard in the roles created on the stage by Alfred Lunt and Miss Lynn Fontanne, "Reunion in Vienna," Robert E. Sherwood's gay, bantering and slightly rueful comedy about an exiled Hapsburg archduke and his ex-sweetheart, was brought to the screen of the Queen's Theatre with complete and gratifying success. Delightfully played, intelligently directed and retaining both the spirit and the letter of the original, the new photograph is a happy excursion into the realms of that sort of narrative which can be described handily as both "sophisticated" and "nostalgic." To a high degree the work captures the half-sorrowful, half-wistful mood in which Mr. Sherwood contemplated the lovely and city of Vienna with its faded grandeur and its faded nobility, its inescapable romance and its last remaining industry, "psycho-analysis."

"Reunion in Vienna" continues to be what it was upon the stage—an amusing and yet somehow touching comedy of the recapture of lost love. "Reunion in Vienna" is a work in which the acting is all-important, and should the leading players fail to capture and maintain its mood the result would probably be fatal. Mr. Barrymore brings all of his enormous skill to the character and offers one of the most best portrayals that he has yet managed upon the screen. After "Topaze," and now "Reunion in Vienna," it can safely be said that Mr. Barrymore has regained upon the screen the position he had upon the stage.

It is slightly surprising to see Miss Wynyard in a role that makes demands on her skill as a deft comedienne, rather than as a player of tragic roles, but, she, too, plays with a combination of lightness and a sad-eyed charm that results in a portrayal both touching and amusing.
